26. The land on which our Registered Office is situated is not owned by us.

Our Registered Office premise is built on land which is situated at 10/5, IT Park, Nagpur – 440022, Maharashtra, India. We have obtained this land from Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation through Lease Deed dated November 01, 2002 for a period of 95 years which can be renewed on the basis of mutual consent. However, we cannot give an assurance that our lease deed for the said land would be renewed on commercially acceptable terms or at all. Our inability to identify the new premises may adversely affect the operations, finances and profitability of our Company.

27. We operate in a highly competitive environment. Any failure to compete effectively may have a material adverse effect on our business and operations.

India has emerged as an increasingly favoured location for customized software development. The market for IT and related services is rapidly evolving and highly competitive. We face competitive pressure from a broad spectrum of Indian and international IT services companies. We expect that competition will continue to intensify both through the entry of new players and consolidation of existing players. Some of our competitors may have greater financial resources, technical and marketing resources and generate greater revenues, and therefore may be able to respond better to market changes than we can. We believe that our ability to compete depends on a number of factors beyond our control including the ability of our competitors to attract, train, motivate and retain highly skilled technical employees, the price at which our competitors offer comparable services and the extent of our competitors' responsiveness to client needs. Our inability to adequately address competitive pressures may have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

Our strategy for combating competition lies in our ability to innovate backed by the quality of our highly qualified and experienced manpower which forms our major strength. Our experience is that there is niche market for products and services that combine application frameworks, interchangeable components and customized solutions. We believe that there will always be a market for specialized skill-sets, flexibility and creative problem solving capabilities.

28. Some of our Group Companies have incurred losses in one or more of the last three years. Sustained financial losses by our Group Companies may not be perceived positively by external parties such as customers, bankers, suppliers etc. which may affect our credibility and business operations.

The following Group Companies promoted by the Promoters has incurred losses in one or more of the last three years:
(₹ in Laks)

Name of Company	Audited Financials for March 31, 2013
Shree Sainath Agro Fields Private Limited	(25.57)
Primus Finance Private Limited	(3.36)
Shree Sainath Textiles Private Limited	(2.24)

For further details, please refer to section titled “Our Promoter Group and Group Companies/Entities” on page 156 of this Prospectus

29. There are certain Companies under the same management within the meaning of former section 370 (1B) of the Companies Act.

Except as stated in the section titled “Our Promoter” and “Our Promoter Group and Group Companies / Entities” beginning on page 149 and 156 respectively of this Prospectus, there are no companies under the same management within the meaning of former section 370 (1B) of the Companies Act.

Except the AKS Infradevelopers Private Limited and ATB Foodworks Private Limited, where our Joint Managing Director is also Director and having interest in the shareholding. No Company under the same management as the Company within the meaning of Section 370(1B) of the Companies Act has made any public issue (including any rights issues to the public) during the last three years and hence there are no pending investor grievances.

30. We face competition in our business from both domestic and international competitors. Such competition would have an adverse impact on our business and financial performance.

We operate in a highly competitive environment. Our Company faces competition from both organized as well as unorganized players. Intensified competition from these players in recent years has increased demand for the quality of contents which we source, which has in turn contributed to an increase in costs for content acquisition. There can be no assurance that the costs of content acquisition will not continue to increase in the future, making it more difficult for us to access content cost-effectively. Further, the prices of commercially compelling content could rise disproportionately due to scarce supply of such content. This could reduce our ability to sustain profit margins, which could have a material adverse effect on our business prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

31. Our business and profitability will suffer if we fail to train our executives in new technologies in order to keep pace with rapid changes in technology and the industries on which we focus.

Technology by its very nature is dynamic and ever changing. We need to continuously train and appraise our executives with all the new technologies in hardware and network management. Further, the IT services market is characterized by rapid technological changes, evolving industry standards, changing client preferences and new service introductions. Our future success will depend on our ability to anticipate these advances and develop new service offerings by constant improvement and innovation. We also need to train our executives in new technologies being evolved and keep them abreast with the same so that our Company is able to meet our client demands. We may not be successful in anticipating or adequately responding to these advances in a timely basis, or, the services offered by us may not be satisfactory in view of the change in technologies in the market. Any such failure or complacency on our part to evolve continuously at steady pace could adversely affect our ability to compete efficiently, our cost-competitiveness and could also adversely affect our revenue and profitability.

32. Some of our lease agreements and other agreements may have certain irregularities.

Some of our lease agreements have certain irregularities such as inadequate stamping and/or non registration of deeds and agreements and improper execution of lease deeds. The effect of inadequate stamping and nonregistration is that the document is not admissible as evidence in legal proceedings, and parties to that agreement may not be able to legally enforce the same, except after paying a penalty for inadequate stamping and nonregistration. In the event of any dispute arising out of such unstamped or inadequately stamped and/or unregistered lease agreements, we may not be able to effectively enforce our leasehold rights arising out of such agreements which may have a material and adverse impact on the business of our Company.

33. We operate several of our branch offices and guest houses on rented premises and if we are required to vacate them, it may affect our business operations. Furthermore, some of the leave and license agreements and lease agreements entered into by us with respect to the rented properties may not be duly registered or adequately stamped. In case of a dispute we may not be able to enforce these agreements.

Presently, our Company has 5 branch offices and other related places such as guest house / satellite offices across India. The premises used for running the branch offices and guest houses are not owned by us and have been procured on lease/ license basis. If the lessor or licensor of such premises does not renew the agreements under which we use the same, we may have to vacate the premises and alternative premises may not be available at the same or similar cost and location. Such a situation could affect our business operations. Further, the rent payable in respect of the rented premises may escalate in future resulting in increase in operation costs. Furthermore, some of the lease/ leave and license agreements may not be adequately stamped or registered with the registering authority of appropriate jurisdiction. Therefore, in case of a dispute we may be unable to enforce these agreements.

34. Delays or defaults in client payments could result in a reduction of our profits.

The efficiency and growth of our business depends on timely payments received from our clients. In the event, our clients default or delay in their payments, we may not have adequate resources to fund our business and growth plans. This could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

35. We might not be able to successfully implement our business strategies

In order to achieve our goal of expanding our presence across the country, we are constantly evaluating the possibilities of expanding our presence. Our initiatives, inter-alia, include:

- (a) Increasing our geographical presence;

(b) Inorganic growth through acquisitions, etc.

Implementation of the aforesaid business strategies may pose significant challenges to our administrative, financial and operational resources and additional risks, including some of which we may not be specifically aware of. If we are unable to successfully implement some or all of our key strategic initiatives in an effective and timely manner, we may face an adverse effect on our future business prospects.

36. The new Companies Act, 2013 is in the process of being implemented and any developments in the near future may be material with respect to the disclosures to be made in this Prospectus as well as other rules and formalities for completing the Issue.

The Companies Act, 2013 has been published on August 29, 2013 and Section 1 of the said Act was notified on August 30, 2013 while 98 more sections were notified as on September 12, 2013, and Section 135 and Schedule VII were notified on February 27, 2014 (applicable from April 1, 2014). Further, 183 other sections were notified on March 26, 2014 (applicable from April 1, 2014). Though we have incorporated the relevant details pertaining to the new Companies Act, 2013 (to the extent notified) in this Prospectus, any further notifications by the MCA after our filing of this Prospectus may be material with respect to the disclosures to be made in this Prospectus as well as other rules and formalities for completing the Issue. Further, the Companies Act, 2013 provides for, among other things, changes to the regulatory framework governing the issue of capital by companies, corporate governance, audit procedures, corporate social responsibility, the requirements for independent directors, director's liability, class action suits, and the inclusion of women directors on the boards of companies. The Companies Act, 2013 is complemented by a set of rules that set out the procedure for compliance with the substantive provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. While some of these rules have been notified and brought into effect from April 1, 2014, it is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty the impact, adverse or otherwise, of the Companies Act, 2013 on the Issue, and on the business, prospects and results of operations of the Company

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

1. A slowdown in economic growth in India could cause our business to suffer.

Our results of operations and financial condition are dependent on, and may be adversely affected by, conditions in financial markets in the global economy and, particularly in India. Since our Company primarily conducts its business within the boundaries of India and all of its assets and majority of its employees are located in India, we are highly dependent on the prevailing market conditions in terms of our performance which is affected by the existing economic conditions. A host of economic factors like increase in rate of inflation, scarcity of credit, increases in commodity and energy prices may impede our growth and expansion plans and may even affect the successful implementation of our current projects. Further, other factors such as political or regulatory action, including adverse changes in liberalization policies, business corruption, social disturbances, terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war, natural calamities, may also affect the business of the Company. Any slowdown in the Indian economy may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and the price of our Equity Shares.

2. Regulatory changes with regard to Direct/Indirect taxes may adversely affect our performance or financial conditions.

Regulatory changes relating to business segments in which we operate in India can have a bearing on our business. Each State in India has different local taxes and levies which may include value added tax, sales tax and octroi. Changes in these local taxes and levies may impact our profits and profitability. Any negative changes in the regulatory conditions in India or our other geographic markets could adversely affect our business operations or financial conditions.

3. Instability of economic policies and the political situation in India or elsewhere could adversely affect the fortunes of the industry.

There is no assurance that the liberalization policies of the government will continue in the future. Protests against privatization could slow down the pace of liberalization and deregulation. The Government of India plays an important role by regulating the policies governing the private sector over the past several years.

Unstable internal and international political environment could impact the economic performance in both the short term and the long term. The Government has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise a significant influence over many aspects of the Indian economy. Our Company's business, and the market price and liquidity of the Equity

Shares, may be affected by changes in interest rates, changes in the Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India.

- 4. *Regional hostilities, terrorist attacks, communal disturbances, civil unrest and other acts of violence or war involving India and other countries may result in a loss of investor confidence and adversely affect the financial markets and our business.

Terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence or war may negatively affect the Indian markets on which our Equity Shares will trade and also adversely affect the worldwide financial markets. In addition, the Asian region has from time to time experienced instances of civil unrest and hostilities among neighboring countries. Hostilities and tensions may occur in the future and on a wider scale. Military activity or terrorist attacks in India, such as the attacks in Mumbai in November 2008 and in July 2011, may result in investor concern about stability in the region, which may adversely affect the price of our Equity Shares. Events of this nature in the future, as well as social and civil unrest within other countries in Asia, could influence the Indian economy and could have an adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including our Equity Shares.

- 5. *The occurrence of natural disasters may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The occurrence of natural disasters, including hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, fires and pandemic disease may adversely affect our financial condition or results of operations. The potential impact of a natural disaster on our results of operations and financial position is speculative, and would depend on numerous factor The extent and severity of these natural disasters determines their effect on the Indian economy. Although the long term effect of diseases such as the H5N1 “avian flu” virus, or H1N1, the swine flu virus, cannot currently be predicted, previous occurrences of avian flu and swine flu had an adverse effect on the economies of those countries in which they were most prevalent. An outbreak of a communicable disease in India would adversely affect our business and financial conditions and results of operations. We cannot assure you that such events will not occur in the future or that our business, financial condition and results of operations will not be adversely affected.

- 6. *Any downgrading of India’s debt rating by a domestic or international rating agency could negatively impact our business.

Any adverse revisions to India’s credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have an adverse effect on our financial results and business prospects, ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the price of our Equity Shares.

- 7. *Our transition to IFRS reporting could have a material adverse effect on our reported results of operations or financial condition.

Our Company may be required to prepare annual and interim financial statements under IFRS in accordance with the roadmap for the adoption of, and convergence with, the IFRS announced by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India through a press note dated January 22, 2010 (“IFRS Convergence Note”). The Ministry of Corporate Affairs by a press release dated February 25, 2011 has notified that 32 Indian Accounting Standards are to be converged with IFR. The date of implementation of such converged Indian accounting standards has not yet been determined and will be notified by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs after various tax related issues are resolved. We have not yet determined with certainty what impact the adoption of IFRS will have on our financial reporting. Our financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or changes in the shareholders’ equity may appear materially different under IFRS than under Indian GAAP or our adoption of IFRS may adversely affect our reported results of operations or financial condition. This may have a material adverse effect on the amount of income recognized during that period.

SECTION III – INTRODUCTION

SUMMARY OF OUR INDUSTRY

This is only a summary and does not contain all the information that you should consider before investing in our Equity Shares. You should read the entire Prospectus, including the information contained in the sections titled “Risk Factors” and “Financial Information’s” and related notes beginning on page 12 and 183 respectively of this Prospectus before deciding to invest in our Equity Shares.

Indian Economy

India is currently one of the world's most attractive investment destinations. The Indian economy has made a growth of 3.4 per cent in 2013-2014, as per projections from the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). The growth in FY 2014–15 is even greater (5.1 per cent) and is expected to boost upto 5.7 per cent in FY 2015–16. Furthermore, the US$ 1.2 trillion investment that the government has planned for the infrastructure sector in the 12th Five-Year Plan is set to help in further improving the export performance of Indian companies and the Indian growth story, which will consequently improve the overall Indian economy.

The HSBC's Services Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) touched a 17 month high at 54.4 points in June 2014 as compared to 50.2 points in May 2014, which is a positive sign for the service sector in India.

The Economic Scenario

India's industrial economy is gathering momentum on the back of improved output of eight core sector industries – coal, crude oil, refining, steel, cement, natural gas, fertilisers and electricity. India has become a promising investment destination for foreign companies looking to do business here, after the new government led by Mr Narendra Modi, Prime Minister of India took over, according to Mr Nitin Nohria, Dean, Harvard Business School (HBS). According to an HSBC report, Indian equities markets have seen foreign institutional investors (FII) net inflow of US$ 2.3 billion in May 2014, taking the total to US$ 7.8 billion so far in 2014. There has been a number of investments and major developments in India in the recent past. Some of them are as follows:

- India's foreign exchange reserves rose by US$ 857 million for the week ending on June 27, 2014, to touch US$ 315.78 billion, while foreign currency assets rose by US$ 851 million to reach US$ 288.81 billion. This can be attributed to the RBI announcing a few measures in its bi-monthly monetary policy which included a hike in the foreign exchange remittance limit to US$ 125,000 from the previous limit of US$ 75,000.
- Indian corporate raised ₹ 1,700 billion (US$ 27.20 billion) through commercial papers (CPs) during the first half of FY 2013–14. A total of 169 issuers raised this amount, according to a report by Prime Database.
- The total value of India's listed companies is expected to cross the US$ 1.5 trillion mark within the next 12 months as India enters the top 10 club of countries by market capitalisation.
- Also, India could become the world's seventh biggest nation in terms of private wealth, with a 150 per cent increase in total, from US$ 2 trillion in 2013 to US$ 5 trillion by 2018, as per a recent study by the Boston Consulting Group (BCG).

Growth Potential Story

The CCI has approved for speedy execution of 36 infrastructure projects entailing investments of ₹ 1,830 billion (US$ 29.28 billion) to boost investor confidence.

Some of the other important developments in the country are as follows:

- IT spending by the Government of India is projected to reach US$ 6.4 billion in 2013, a growth of 7 per cent year-on-year, according to a report by research and advisory firm Gartner.
- India's IT-business process outsourcing (BPO) industry revenue is expected to cross US$ 225 billion by 2020, according to a Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) report, titled 'The SMAC Code-Embracing New Technologies for Future Business'.
- General Electric (GE) plans to make India a manufacturing hub for its global markets due to its huge talent pool and lower manufacturing costs. The Company's upcoming plant at Chakan, Maharashtra, is the first major step towards this direction, said Mr. Banmali Agrawala, President and CEO, GE South Asia.
- Overseas investors have invested around US$ 20.4 billion in the Indian market in the first half of 2014, mainly on hopes of a stable and reform-oriented government at the Centre. FIIs have helped in pushing up the benchmark

BSE sensx by over 20 per cent in the first six months of the year. The interest for costume jewellery is on the rise and costume jewellers estimate that they have clocked 20–30 per cent growth and the industry size is expected to touch ₹ 150 billion (US$ 2.40 billion) by December 2015, as per an industry body.

- The number of millionaires in India is expected to reach 300,000 by 2018 from about 182,000 currently, according to the global wealth report released by the Credit Suisse Research Institute. Six qualified institutional placements (QIPs) launched in India during April-June 2014 raised Rs 12,151 crore (US$ 2.01 billion) compared with Rs 1,222 crore (US$ 201.9 million) raised in the same quarter in 2013. The Life Insurance Council (LIC), the industry body of life insurers in India, has estimated the sector to record a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 12–15 per cent over the next five years.

Indian IT Industry

The Indian Information Technology (IT) and Information Technology enabled Services (ITeS) sectors go hand-in-hand in every aspect. The industry has not only transformed India's image on the global platform, but also fuelled economic growth by energising higher education sector (especially in engineering and computer science). The industry has employed almost 10 million Indians and hence, has contributed a lot to social transformation in the country.

Furthermore, Indian firms, across all other sectors, largely depend on the IT & ITeS service providers to make their business processes efficient and streamlined. Indian manufacturing sector has the highest IT spending followed by automotive, chemicals and consumer products industries. Indian organizations are turning to IT to help them grow business in the current economic environment. IT is seen as a change enabler and a source of business value for organizations by 85 per cent of the respondents, according to a study by VMware.

Market Size

India's IT-business process outsourcing (BPO) industry revenue is expected to cross US$ 225 billion mark by 2020, according to a Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) report, titled 'The SMAC Code-Embracing New Technologies for Future Business'. India's information technology (IT) lobby made its most optimistic forecast for software exports in three years, estimating a 13-15% increase in the next fiscal year with top clients such as General Electric Co. (GE) and Citigroup Inc. expected to spend more on farming out back-office software projects to cut costs. Technology firms in India are expected to reap the benefits of Internet of Things (IoT) data, considered to be a US$ 18 billion opportunity, to help clients improve productivity and asset utilization as well as to enhance end-customer experience, as per networking firm Cisco. As was widely expected, Nasscom said software exports in 2014-15 would rise to as much as $99 billion, from about $86 billion estimated for this fiscal year ending March. Including the domestic market, the Indian IT industry is currently pegged at $118 billion.

India's total IT industry's (including hardware) share in the global market stands at 7 per cent; in the IT segment the share is 4 per cent while in the ITeS space the share is 2 per cent. Moreover, India plans to spend around US$ 3.9 billion on cloud services during 2013-2017, of which US$ 1.7 billion will be spent on software-as-a-service (SaaS), according to the latest outlook of IT research and advisory Company, Gartner Inc. Mumbai with 12 million internet users has emerged as the top most city in the country with highest penetration of internet users, followed by Delhi (8.1 million) and Hyderabad (4.7 million), according to the data released by Internet & Mobile Association of India (IAMAI). The latest forecast will reassure investors and bodes well for the Indian software services exports sector, which recorded its strongest performance in 2013-14 after more than two years, with Infosys and US-based Cognizant Technology Solutions Corp. enjoying healthy double-digit growth.

Investments

Indian IT's core competencies and strengths have placed it on the international canvas, attracting investments from major countries.

Some of the major investments in Indian IT and ITeS sector:

- Wipro plans to acquire US-based mortgage due diligence and risk management service provider Opus Capital Markets Consultants (Opus CMC) for ₹ 465 crore (US$ 75.07 million). Opus CMC provides comprehensive risk management solutions to the mortgage industry in the US.

Road Ahead

Globalization has a profound impact in shaping the Indian IT industry over the years with India capturing a sizeable chunk of the global market for technology sourcing and business services. Over the years the growth drivers for this sector have been the verticals of manufacturing, telecommunication, insurance, banking, finance and of late the fledgling retail revolution. As the new scenario unfolds it is getting clear that the future growth of IT and ITeS will be fuelled by the verticals of climate change, mobile applications, healthcare, energy efficiency and sustainable energy. Traditional business strongholds would make way for new geographies, there would be new customers and more and more of SMEs will go for IT application and services. Demand from emerging countries is expected to show strong growth going forward. Tax holidays are also extended to IT sector for software technology parks of India (STPI) and special economic zones (SEZs). Further, the country is providing procedural ease and single window clearance for setting up facilities. The country's cost competitiveness in providing IT services, which is approximately 3-4 times cheaper than the US continues to be its USP in the global sourcing market.

Global IT Industry

The Global IT Services industry holds significant opportunities for industry players due to increasing IT spending in the healthcare, retail, and transportation sectors, among others. The market is forecast to reach an estimated US $1,147 billion in 2017 with a CAGR of more than 5% during 2012–2017. Lucintel, a leading global management consulting and market research firm, has analyzed the global IT services market and presents its findings in “Global IT Services industry Analysis 2012- 2017: Industry Trend, Profit, and Forecast Analysis.”

The global IT services industry comprises services related to the application of business and technical expertise to enable organizations to create, manage, optimize, and access information and business processes. The industry's scope includes product support services such as hardware and software maintenance and professional services such as IT consulting, development, and integration services.

Lucintel's research study reveals that high volatility in currency exchange rates, a shrinking talent pool, and high labor costs in developed countries are some of the major challenges for the IT services industry. The increasing global demand for systems, software, and services, as well as IT spending by governments, and the banking and financial sectors are likely to boost the IT services market. The industry is highly correlated with economic cycles as IT services are project based and often represent discretionary spending.

This study provides a concise overview of the Global IT Services industry. The report tracks three industry segments for four regions, North America, Europe, APAC, and Rest of World (ROW); thus, it tracks 12 segments of the Global IT Services industry. The scope of this study is limited to annual trends for the past five years and forecasts for the next six years – helping executives plan for their inventory and resources. This report does not include revenue from manufacturing of tangible IT products, such as hardware and software.

Growth in Geographical Information System (GIS):

Today, GIS is a multi-billion-dollar industry, with billions being spent annually on data acquisition and dissemination, software development, and applications. It has penetrated virtually all disciplines that deal in any way with the surface or near-surface of the Earth, from atmospheric science through oceanography to criminology and history. Tens of thousands take courses in GIS each year, and millions are exposed to GIS through such services as Mapquest (<http://www.mapquest.com>). Millions more make use of the Global Positioning System and simple devices to navigate.

The object-oriented approach now dominates GIS data modeling. Its first principle is that every feature on the Earth's surface is an instance of a class, and its second is that classes can be specializations of more general classes. The authors, for example, are instances of the class male human beings, which is a specialization of the more general class human beings. In turn human beings can be thought of as part of a hierarchy of increasing generality: mammals, vertebrates, animals, and organisms in that order. Specialized classes inherit all of the properties of more general classes, and add special properties of their own.

GIS permits a vast array of operations based on this approach to representation. Most published methods of spatial analysis can be found implemented in the standard products of commercial GIS vendors, or in the extensions to those products that are offered by third parties. A variety of GIS products and extensions are also available as open software or freeware, through academic and other organizations and communities. The GIS industry has recently adopted component-based approaches to software, by breaking what were previously monolithic packages into aggregations of re-usable components. This has enormous advantages in the integration of GIS with other forms of software that use the same standards, particularly packages for statistical analysis

The past 40 years show ample evidence of convergence, as the two fields have recognized their essential complementarity. As science moves into a new era of technology-based collaboration and cyber infrastructure, exploiting tools that are becoming increasingly essential to a science concerned with understanding complex systems, it is clear that GIS and spatial data analysis need each other, and are in much the same relationship as exists between the statistical packages and statistics, or word processors and writing. It is more and more difficult to analyze the vast amounts of data available to regional scientists, and to test new theories and hypotheses without computational infrastructure; and the existence of such infrastructure opens possibilities for entirely new kinds of theories and models, and new kinds of data.

The two perspectives have also done much to stimulate each other's thinking. GIS is richer for the demands of spatial data analysis, and spatial data analysis is richer for the focus that GIS has brought to issues of representation and ontology. The whole-map, homothetic approach to science is giving way to a new, place-centered approach in which variations over the Earth's surface are as potentially interesting as uniformity. The view of GIS as an intelligent assistant is giving way to a new view of GIS as a medium of communication, in which spatial data analysis is one of several ways of enhancing the message.

GIS is in many ways the result of adapting generic technologies to the particular needs of spatial data. In that sense its future is assured, since there is no lack of new technologies in the pipeline. New technologies have also stimulated new science, as researchers have begun to think about the implications of new data sources, or new technology-based activities. These in turn have stimulated new kinds of analytic methods, and new 21 hypotheses about the geographic world. The process of stimulus and convergence that began in the 1960s with GIS and spatial data analysis is far from complete, and the interaction between them is likely to remain interesting and productive for many years to come.

TechNavio's analysts forecast the GIS market in India to grow at a CAGR of 8.19 percent over the period 2012-2016. One of the key factors contributing to this market growth is the increasing demand from the Government sector. The GIS market in India has also been witnessing the development of next-generation systems. However, the need for high initial investment could pose a challenge to the growth of this market.

TechNavio's report, the GIS Market in India 2012-2016, has been prepared based on an in-depth market analysis with inputs from industry experts. The report covers the GIS market in India landscape and growth prospects in the coming years. The report also includes a discussion of the key vendors operating in this market.

Engineering & R&D Services (ER&D)

Indian ER&D service has played a pivotal role in accelerating innovation and is establishing India as a design and innovation hub. India is gaining depth in its ER&D capacities offering end to end product development. The market is expected to exceed initial market projections and is expected to reach USD 40-45 billion by 2020. The Indian IT-BPO industry has invested significantly to strengthen their customer outreach and build engineering capacity and capability not only across new and existing verticals but also across the full spectrum of product development value chain.

Windmill Industry

The power sector in India is mainly governed by the Ministry of Power. Major PSUs involved in the generation of electricity include NHPC Ltd, NTPC Ltd, and Nuclear Power Corporation of India (NPCIL). The responsibility for the inter-state transmission of electricity and the development of national grid is with the PowerGrid Corporation of India. With major developments in the infrastructure sector and improvement in the standard of living, the demand for power in the country is expected to grow at a rate of 10-12 per cent up till 2017.

Presently, about 53.7 per cent of India's commercial energy demand is met through the country's vast coal reserves. India has also invested heavily in recent years on renewable sources of energy such as wind energy.

Some of the major investments made into the Indian power sector are as follows:

- Suzlon Group has received a 100.8 MW order from ReNew Wind Power. The project is scheduled for execution at the Bhesada wind site in Jaisalmer district of Rajasthan.
- Tata Power Renewable Energy Ltd, a subsidiary of Tata Power, has successfully commissioned a 25 MW solar photovoltaic (PV) power project at Mithapur, Gujarat, under Gujarat's Solar Power Policy 2009.
- Jakson Group won engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) orders aggregating US$ 34.21 million for its electrical contracting and solar businesses for FY14.
- Bharat Heavy Electricals Ltd (BHEL) has commissioned a 160 MW gas-based power plant at Jaisalmer in Rajasthan for the state's power generation company.
- Swelect Energy Systems (SWEES) has commissioned its 15 MW solar energy park set up with an investment of Rs 106 crore (US$ 17.63 million) near Vellakoil, Tamil Nadu.

Government Initiatives

India has emerged as one of the fastest growing economies in the world. Its current economic performance reflects a healthy trend based on increased consumption, investment and exports. Over the next five years, this growth is expected to continue. The Government of India has identified the power sector as a key sector of focus to promote sustained industrial growth.

Some of the initiatives taken by the Government of India to boost the power sector of India are as follows:

- The Government of India plans to buy the equity of Power System Operation Corporation Ltd (Posoco), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the PowerGrid Corporation of India, at a book value of around Rs 35 crore (US$ 5.82 million).
- Agence Francaise de Development (AFD) is extending a Line of Credit (LoC) of € 100 million (US$ 134.73 million) for a tenure of 15 years to M/s Indian Renewable Energy Development Agency Ltd (IREDA) to finance renewable energy and energy efficiency projects in India.
- The Electricity Supply Companies (ESCOM) of Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh Power Generation Corporation (APGENCO) have signed a power purchase agreement (PPA) for sharing 230 MW power generated from the Priyadarshini Jurala hydro power project.
- The Government of India has joined hands with IIT Bombay to implement cost-effective solar powered lighting solutions for the rural population, which will help save 36 million litres of kerosene.

Power transmission in India, which is currently carried out largely in the 220 kilovolts (KV) and 400 kV range, is expected to move up to a higher range of 765 KV and high-voltage (HV) direct current. This presents a significant opportunity to manufacturers with capabilities in high-voltage to develop technology that can handle such requirements in the country.

The Indian Information Technology (IT) and Information Technology enabled Services (ITeS) sectors go hand-in-hand in every aspect. The industry has not only transformed India's image on the global platform, but also fuelled economic growth by energising higher education sector (especially in engineering and computer science). The industry has employed almost 10 million Indians and hence, has contributed a lot to social transformation in the country.

Furthermore, Indian firms, across all other sectors, largely depend on the IT & ITeS service providers to make their business processes efficient and streamlined. Indian manufacturing sector has the highest IT spending followed by automotive, chemicals and consumer products industries. Indian organizations are turning to IT to help them grow business in the current economic environment. IT is seen as a change enabler and a source of business value for organizations by 85 per cent of the respondents, according to a study by VMware.

Market Size

India's IT-business process outsourcing (BPO) industry revenue is expected to cross US$ 225 billion mark by 2020, according to a Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) report, titled 'The SMAC Code-Embracing New Technologies for Future Business'. India's information technology (IT) lobby made its most optimistic forecast for software exports in three years, estimating a 13-15% increase in the next fiscal year with top clients such as General Electric Co. (GE) and Citigroup Inc. expected to spend more on farming out back-office software projects to cut costs. Technology firms in India are expected to reap the benefits of Internet of Things (IoT) data, considered to be a US$ 18 billion opportunity, to help clients improve productivity and asset utilization as well as to enhance end-customer experience, as per networking firm Cisco. As was widely expected, Nasscom said software exports in 2014-15 would rise to as much as $99 billion, from about $86 billion estimated for this fiscal year ending March. Including the domestic market, the Indian IT industry is currently pegged at $118 billion.

India's total IT industry's (including hardware) share in the global market stands at 7 per cent; in the IT segment the share is 4 per cent while in the ITeS space the share is 2 per cent. Moreover, India plans to spend around US$ 3.9 billion on cloud services during 2013-2017, of which US$ 1.7 billion will be spent on software-as-a-service (SaaS), according the latest outlook of IT research and advisory Company, Gartner Inc. Mumbai with 12 million internet users has emerged as the top most city in the country with highest penetration of internet users, followed by Delhi (8.1 million) and Hyderabad (4.7 million), according to the data released by Internet & Mobile Association of India (IAMAI). The latest forecast will reassure investors and bodes well for the Indian software services exports sector, which recorded its strongest performance in 2013-14 after more than two years, with Infosys and US-based Cognizant Technology Solutions Corp. enjoying healthy double-digit growth.

Investments

Indian IT's core competencies and strengths have placed it on the international canvas, attracting investments from major countries.

Globalization has a profound impact in shaping the Indian IT industry over the years with India capturing a sizeable chunk of the global market for technology sourcing and business services. Over the years the growth drivers for this sector have been the verticals of manufacturing, telecommunication, insurance, banking, finance and of late the fledgling retail revolution. As the new scenario unfolds it is getting clear that the future growth of IT and ITeS will be fuelled by the verticals of climate change, mobile applications, healthcare, energy efficiency and sustainable energy. Traditional business strongholds would make way for new geographies, there would be new customers and more and more of SMEs will go for IT application and services. Demand from emerging countries is expected to show strong growth going forward. Tax holidays are also extended to IT sector for software technology parks of India (STPI) and special economic zones (SEZs). Further, the country is providing procedural ease and single window clearance for setting up facilities. The country's cost competitiveness in providing IT services, which is approximately 3-4 times cheaper than the US continues to be its USP in the global sourcing market.

Global IT Industry

The Global IT Services industry holds significant opportunities for industry players due to increasing IT spending in the healthcare, retail, and transportation sectors, among others. The market is forecast to reach an estimated US $1,147 billion in 2017 with a CAGR of more than 5% during 2012–2017. Lucintel, a leading global management consulting and market research firm, has analyzed the global IT services market and presents its findings in “Global IT Services industry Analysis 2012- 2017: Industry Trend, Profit, and Forecast Analysis.”

The global IT services industry comprises services related to the application of business and technical expertise to enable organizations to create, manage, optimize, and access information and business processes. The industry's scope includes product support services such as hardware and software maintenance and professional services such as IT consulting, development, and integration services.

Lucintel's research study reveals that high volatility in currency exchange rates, a shrinking talent pool, and high labor costs in developed countries are some of the major challenges for the IT services industry. The increasing global demand for systems, software, and services, as well as IT spending by governments, and the banking and financial sectors are likely to boost the IT services market. The industry is highly correlated with economic cycles as IT services are project based and often represent discretionary spending.

This study provides a concise overview of the Global IT Services industry. The report tracks three industry segments for four regions, North America, Europe, APAC, and Rest of World (ROW); thus, it tracks 12 segments of the Global IT Services industry. The scope of this study is limited to annual trends for the past five years and forecasts for the next six years – helping executives plan for their inventory and resources. This report does not include revenue from manufacturing of tangible IT products, such as hardware and software.

Growth in Geographical Information System (GIS):

Today, GIS is a multi-billion-dollar industry, with billions being spent annually on data acquisition and dissemination, software development, and applications. It has penetrated virtually all disciplines that deal in any way with the surface or near-surface of the Earth, from atmospheric science through oceanography to criminology and history. Tens of thousands take courses in GIS each year, and millions are exposed to GIS through such services as Mapquest (<http://www.mapquest.com>). Millions more make use of the Global Positioning System and simple devices to navigate.

The object-oriented approach now dominates GIS data modeling. Its first principle is that every feature on the Earth's surface is an instance of a class, and its second is that classes can be specializations of more general classes. The authors, for example, are instances of the class male human beings, which is a specialization of the more general class human beings. In turn human beings can be thought of as part of a hierarchy of increasing generality: mammals, vertebrates, animals, and organisms in that order. Specialized classes inherit all of the properties of more general classes, and add special properties of their own.

GIS permits a vast array of operations based on this approach to representation. Most published methods of spatial analysis can be found implemented in the standard products of commercial GIS vendors, or in the extensions to those products that are offered by third parties. A variety of GIS products and extensions are also available as open software or freeware, through academic and other organizations and communities. The GIS industry has recently adopted component-based approaches to software, by breaking what were previously monolithic packages into aggregations of re-usable components. This has enormous advantages in the integration of GIS with other forms of software that use the same standards, particularly packages for statistical analysis

The past 40 years show ample evidence of convergence, as the two fields have recognized their essential complementarity. As science moves into a new era of technology-based collaboration and cyber infrastructure, exploiting tools that are becoming increasingly essential to a science concerned with understanding complex systems, it is clear that GIS and spatial data analysis need each other, and are in much the same relationship as exists between the statistical packages and statistics, or word processors and writing. It is more and more difficult to analyze the vast amounts of data available to regional scientists, and to test new theories and hypotheses without computational infrastructure; and the existence of such infrastructure opens possibilities for entirely new kinds of theories and models, and new kinds of data.

The two perspectives have also done much to stimulate each other's thinking. GIS is richer for the demands of spatial data analysis, and spatial data analysis is richer for the focus that GIS has brought to issues of representation and ontology. The whole-map, homothetic approach to science is giving way to a new, place-centered approach in which variations over the Earth's surface are as potentially interesting as uniformity. The view of GIS as an intelligent assistant is giving way to a new view of GIS as a medium of communication, in which spatial data analysis is one of several ways of enhancing the message.

GIS is in many ways the result of adapting generic technologies to the particular needs of spatial data. In that sense its future is assured, since there is no lack of new technologies in the pipeline. New technologies have also stimulated new science, as researchers have begun to think about the implications of new data sources, or new technology-based activities. These in turn have stimulated new kinds of analytic methods, and new 21 hypotheses about the geographic world. The process of stimulus and convergence that began in the 1960s with GIS and spatial data analysis is far from complete, and the interaction between them is likely to remain interesting and productive for many years to come.

TechNavio's analysts forecast the GIS market in India to grow at a CAGR of 8.19 percent over the period 2012-2016. One of the key factors contributing to this market growth is the increasing demand from the Government sector. The GIS market in India has also been witnessing the development of next-generation systems. However, the need for high initial investment could pose a challenge to the growth of this market.

TechNavio's report, the GIS Market in India 2012-2016, has been prepared based on an in-depth market analysis with inputs from industry experts. The report covers the GIS market in India landscape and growth prospects in the coming years. The report also includes a discussion of the key vendors operating in this market.

Engineering & R&D Services (ER&D)

Indian ER&D service has played a pivotal role in accelerating innovation and is establishing India as a design and innovation hub. India is gaining depth in its ER&D capacities offering end to end product development. The market is expected to exceed initial market projections and is expected to reach USD 40-45 billion by 2020. The Indian IT-BPO industry has invested significantly to strengthen their customer outreach and build engineering capacity and capability not only across new and existing verticals but also across the full spectrum of product development value chain.

Windmill Industry

The power sector in India is mainly governed by the Ministry of Power. Major PSUs involved in the generation of electricity include NHPC Ltd, NTPC Ltd, and Nuclear Power Corporation of India (NPCIL). The responsibility for the inter-state transmission of electricity and the development of national grid is with the PowerGrid Corporation of India. With major developments in the infrastructure sector and improvement in the standard of living, the demand for power in the country is expected to grow at a rate of 10-12 per cent up till 2017.

Presently, about 53.7 per cent of India's commercial energy demand is met through the country's vast coal reserves. India has also invested heavily in recent years on renewable sources of energy such as wind energy.

Some of the major investments made into the Indian power sector are as follows:

- Suzlon Group has received a 100.8 MW order from ReNew Wind Power. The project is scheduled for execution at the Bhesada wind site in Jaisalmer district of Rajasthan.
- Tata Power Renewable Energy Ltd, a subsidiary of Tata Power, has successfully commissioned a 25 MW solar photovoltaic (PV) power project at Mithapur, Gujarat, under Gujarat's Solar Power Policy 2009.
- Jakson Group won engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) orders aggregating US$ 34.21 million for its electrical contracting and solar businesses for FY14.
- Swelect Energy Systems (SWEES) has commissioned its 15 MW solar energy park set up with an investment of Rs 106 crore (US$ 17.63 million) near Vellakoil, Tamil Nadu.

Government Initiatives

India has emerged as one of the fastest growing economies in the world. Its current economic performance reflects a healthy trend based on increased consumption, investment and exports. Over the next five years, this growth is expected to continue. The Government of India has identified the power sector as a key sector of focus to promote sustained industrial growth.

Some of the initiatives taken by the Government of India to boost the power sector of India are as follows:

- The Government of India plans to buy the equity of Power System Operation Corporation Ltd (Posoco), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the PowerGrid Corporation of India, at a book value of around Rs 35 crore (US$ 5.82 million).
- Agence Francaise de Development (AFD) is extending a Line of Credit (LoC) of € 100 million (US$ 134.73 million) for a tenure of 15 years to M/s Indian Renewable Energy Development Agency Ltd (IREDA) to finance renewable energy and energy efficiency projects in India.
- The Electricity Supply Companies (ESCOM) of Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh Power Generation Corporation (APGENCO) have signed a power purchase agreement (PPA) for sharing 230 MW power generated from the Priyadarshini Jurala hydro power project.
- The Government of India has joined hands with IIT Bombay to implement cost-effective solar powered lighting solutions for the rural population, which will help save 36 million litres of kerosene.

Power transmission in India, which is currently carried out largely in the 220 kilovolts (KV) and 400 kV range, is expected to move up to a higher range of 765 KV and high-voltage (HV) direct current. This presents a significant opportunity to manufacturers with capabilities in high-voltage to develop technology that can handle such requirements in the country.

2) Services Domestic

The maximum budget allocation in the Centre and State Budget after Defense has been in the water resources and Power. The Company in the last 3 years has built up credentials in the water resources and electricity Domain.

a) Water Resources

As we all know that 73% of earth's mass is hydrosphere or water of which only 0.4% is portable water. Furthermore 90% of the diseases are water borne, with the Rapid Industrialization, constructions boom and mining, the water levels in the country have gone down and also water contamination has increased considerably the main challenges in the water domain has been distribution , quality and enhancements of water tables.

The Company has created credentials in all these three areas by working in association with the state bodies on creation of GIS based futuristic water distribution model under the World Bank initiatives for reducing NRW (Non-revenue water) which has been major concern in developing and emerging economies including India.

The Company has also built credentials in creating decision support system with the help of GIS thematic mapping for water contamination leading to various diseases, the decision support system helps State and Central agencies, to create better plans for installation of filtration plants and proper capacity planning to create appropriate remedies to reduce contamination.

The Company expects that in years to come these would be major contributing factors to overall and bottom line which is evident and has been witnessed from current order booking.

b) Power

Even in the power realm distribution, generation and transmission is a major challenge in the emerging and development economies including India. Company has built credentials in creating and upgrading GIS based distribution, Data generation which has been further integrated with SCADA (Supervisory control and data acquisition) to give online area wise requirements of power and electricity.

The Company is empanelled with Power Grid Corporation of India Limited for Restructured Accelerated Power Development & Reforms Programme (RAPDRP) projects across the states of India. An upcoming field in the power domain is the Manage data services (MDS) in the last few years a lot of data creation and acquisition has taken place in India in the electricity domain, however the regular delta updation, remains a matter of question.

Details of Market

The geospatial market comprises four identifiable components – data, software, hardware and services. Of these two segments, hardware and services have shown significant growth in India. The major software providers in India are ESRI, Autodesk, Bentley Systems, Leica Geosystems, Intergraph and PCI Geomatics. The major companies that produce GIS compatible hardware in India are HP, Trimble, Sokkia, Leica and Garmin.

The largest segment in the geospatial market is the services segment and the major companies in this space include Rolta, RMSI, Infotech Enterprises and TCS etc. The Indian geospatial industry consists of two distinct but mutually supporting segments.

The Indian geospatial industry consists of two distinct parts. The larger part catering to geospatial data and software development services for international organizations, primarily in North America and Western Europe. The other part, the domestic segment, caters to providing geospatial capabilities to the Indian data providers/users.

This segment is funded, managed and controlled largely by national and state governments.

A number of Indian firms and Indian Remote sensing agencies are contracted to provide services for government initiatives like transport and infrastructure, rural development, Irrigation and Water Resource, NRE Agriculture and climate, Urban Development, power education and health sectors.

The evolution of India into a modern industrialized country is a slow yet steady process as the country strides ahead on the development path paved by industrialization. Technology has been known to be the key driver of industrialization process and has to be placed at the heart of the industrialization path that India has set itself on.

Geospatial technology has made inroads across various sectors in the public as well as private domain in India. The major sectors using geospatial technology in India are: agriculture, telecommunications, oil & gas, environmental management, forestry, public safety, infrastructure, logistics etc. As stakeholders across sectors realize the utility and long term cost effectiveness of using geospatial tools and technologies, the geospatial industry is set to progress by leaps and bounds in the coming years. Well articulated policy mechanisms, Government support and the ever-increasing domestic demand would go a long way in popularizing geospatial technology in India and bring it into the mainstream an aid for effective governance and developmental planning.

Competition

It is difficult to achieve an increased level of integration when the tools are developed and managed by independent companies with heavy focus on their own business objectives.

Existing partnership network and approach was inadequate to deal with such a situation as partners were more protective and skeptical about their own business interests. As a result, large geospatial companies started acquiring complementing technologies which enabled them to offer more comprehensive products and solutions.

Hexagon AB is one fine example following this trend. Within seven years of its existence in geospatial industry, Hexagon acquired a complete range of geospatial technologies including GIS, surveying, Photogrammetry, scanning, machine control and imaging with an aim to create end-to-end solutions.

These acquisitions and mergers brought with them an altogether new business dimension for geospatial industry and its stakeholders.

One of the most affected and less-talked about stakeholders in this changing ecosystem is the SME. Earlier, SMEs' businesses were aligned to that of their principal partners and were heavily reliant on the partnership network of the principal companies. But in this acquisition age, SMEs have been affected in multiple ways owing to the realignment of the partnerships networks of their principal companies. Few recent acquisition Hexagon-Intergraph CSR- Sifir Tom Tom-TeleAtlas Nokia-Navteq Rolta-Orion Trimble- Omnistar Trimble-Ashtech Pitney Bowes-MapInfo Topcon-Sokkia Hexagon-Elcome Tech Hexagon-Leica Rolta-TUSC Hexagon-SISGraph Bentley-Pointools Esri-Procedural

Major players are undergoing acquisitions and merger because of following-

- To gain competitive advantage
- For consolidation purposes -
- To add value to existing technology and solutions
- To have direct presence and provide local support
- To increase market share –
- For diversification of products/solutions

Future prospects

GIS is still a major growth industry, the rate of adoption of geospatial technology by new agencies continues to grow. In addition, there is a strong consulting segment that continues to grow in order to supply supporting GIS to those agencies.

The geospatial industry is presently witnessing tremendous opportunity within the country as the Union government has initiated reform projects in several infrastructure segments like rural development, power, land and natural resources. Besides, there are various other fields such as, schemes for construction and maintenance of roads, railways and waterways, civil aviation, public utility services, education, health, command area development, flood management programme, flood control, urban renewal, urban water supply, rural water supply, Integrated Watershed Management Program me etc for spatial planning, management and decision

The world is changing rapidly and increasingly challenged with population growth, resource consumption, rapid technology development and evolving demands of geospatial data users. Such changes are having far-reaching implications on the geospatial industry. In such a scenario, it becomes pertinent to take stock of the prospects of the geospatial industry in the constantly changing world.

GIS is going through transformational phase in the way the technology is used. GIS which has been essentially a back office technology is now moving to the front office thereby creating unique experience environments for the users. Some of the profound changes that we are witnessing are:

- GIS is becoming a part of mainstream IT serving the needs of virtually every department of an organization.
- It is getting integrated with other IT sub systems like ERP, CRM, DMS/CMS, SCADA among others.
- It is being deployed on multiple platforms like Web Server, Cloud Portal and Client Server. Users have multiple options to consume content and services using devices like Tablets, PDAs, Mobile phones, Desktops and Workstations. You can have both connected and disconnected clients.
- Emergence of Cloud GIS platforms like AGOL is also creating unique business models for users to choose from. For instance, users can opt for subscription option and pay per use. Crowd sourcing is another interesting development which has led to involvement of public at large in enriching the content.

A. Laws pertaining to the wind energy in India

Central Electricity Laws/Regulations/Policies

The Electricity Act, 2003 and the Energy Conservation Act, 2001 and rules and regulations made under it primarily govern the legislative framework of the electricity sector in India.

1. Electricity Act, 2003 (“the Electricity Act”)

The Electricity Act repealed the previous Indian legislation pertaining to electricity in India namely the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948 and the Electricity Regulatory Commissions Act, 1998 and was brought into force on June 10, 2003. The Electricity Act and the rules and regulations made there under primarily govern the generation, transmission, distribution, trading and use of electricity. The Electricity Act inter alia provides for constitution of the Central Electric Authority Regulatory Commissions for regulating tariffs of generating companies, granting of licenses, formulating the Grid Code as well as advising on formulation of the National Electricity Policy and Tariff Policy. It also provides for constitution of the State Electric Authority Regulatory Commissions for formulating the Grid Code, granting licenses to electricity traders/distributors, regulating intra-state transmission and wheeling of electricity.

2. Central Electricity Regulatory Commission (Terms and Conditions for Tariff determination from Renewable Energy Sources) Regulations, 2012 (“Tariff Determination Regulations”)

On April 1, 2012 the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission has issued the Tariff Determination Regulations, which set out parameters for determining the tariff for purchase of electricity generated from renewable energy sources including wind, solar and such other renewable sources of energy. The Tariff Determination Regulations are applicable in all instances where tariff, for generating station or its unit is based on renewable sources of energy, is to be determined by Central Electricity Regulatory Commission under the provisions of the Electricity Act. The CERC shall determine the generic tariff on the basis of suo-moto petition at least six months in advance at the beginning of each year of the control period for renewable energy technologies for which norms have been specified under the Regulations.

3. The Central Electricity Authority (Technical Standards for Connectivity to the Grid) Regulations, 2007 (“Grid Connectivity Regulations”)

Central Electricity Regulatory Commission has formulated the Grid Connectivity Regulations which provides the technical standards that a generating company is required to adhere to for integration into the grid. The generating company is required comply with the technical specifications regarding equipment installation, metering, installation of transmission substations and safety measures and the connectivity standards specified under the Grid Connectivity Regulations.

4. The National Electricity Policy, 2005

On February 12, 2005, the Ministry of Power has notified the National Electricity Policy. The National Electricity Policy lays down guidelines for accelerated development of the power sector, providing supply of electricity to all areas and protecting interests of consumers and other stakeholders keeping in view availability of energy resources, technology available to exploit these resources, economics of generation using different resources, and energy security issues with an aim of providing universal access to electricity. The National Electricity Policy aims to address the following issues:

1. Rural Electrification;
2. Generation;
3. Transmission;
4. Distribution;
5. Recovery of Cost of services and targeted subsidies;
6. Technology development and Research and Development;
7. Competition aimed at consumer benefits;
8. Financing power sector Programmes including private sector participation;
9. Energy conservation;
10. Environmental issues;
11. Training and Human Resource Development;
12. Cogeneration and Non-Conventional Energy Sources; and
13. Protection of consumer interests and Quality Standards.

5. The National Tariff Policy, 2006 (“National Tariff Policy”)

The Electricity Act requires that the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission and State Electricity Regulatory Commissions are guided by the tariff policy in discharging their functions. Accordingly, the Ministry of Power has formulated the National Tariff Policy which lays down the following objectives:

- a. Ensuring availability of electricity to consumers at reasonable and competitive rates;
- b. Ensuring financial viability of the sector and attracting investments;
- c. Promoting transparency, consistency and predictability in regulatory approaches across jurisdictions and minimizing perception of regulatory risks;
- d. Promoting competition, efficiency in operations and improvement in quality of supply.

The National Tariff Policy has inter-alia laid emphasis on the importance of providing adequate return on investment in the power sector, ensuring reasonability of user charges and payment security mechanisms. Accordingly, the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission and State Electricity Regulatory Commissions would be required to formulate operating norms and tariff structures on the basis of the aforesaid objectives embodied in the National Tariff Policy. The National Tariff Policy also mandates that the appropriate commission shall specify the minimum percentage for purchase of energy produced from non-conventional energy sources i.e. the renewable purchase obligation.

6. Renewable Purchase Obligation

In consonance with clause (e) of Sub-section (1) of Section 86 of the Electricity Act, 2003, the State Electricity Regulatory Commissions in India have mandated that the users owning captive power plants, distribution licensees and open access consumers must procure electricity generated from the specified renewable energy sources at certain specified percentages more particularly prescribed in the Renewable Purchase Obligation regulations formulated by them. The users owning captive power plants, distribution licensees and open access consumers are required to report the fulfillment of their Renewable Purchase Obligation to the State Agency appointed in accordance with the regulations framed by the State Electricity Regulatory Commissions.

7. Strategic Plan for New and Renewable Energy Sector for the Period 2011-17

MNRE’s strategic plan can be concisely put as:

- (a) Vision, Mission and Objectives to be achieved by the end of the year 2022
- (b) Strategy for promoting the sector and achieving desired outcomes
- (c) Implementation plan outlining the timelines, resources required and tools for tracking and measuring success.

The vision of MNRE is to attain energy security and energy independence in order to upscale and mainstream the use of new and renewable energy. The Strategic Plan’s main objective is promotion of grid-interactive renewable power generation projects.

Following are the on going action plans specific to the Wind Energy Sector:

- (a) Wind Resource Assessment: Updating/ expansion of existing data base Off-shore resource assessment.
- (b) Regular interaction with all stakeholders to periodically address policy, regulatory, evacuation transmission matters for wind power.
- (c) Regular interaction with States to periodically address land acquisition, E&F clearance and State policy issues.

MNRE is continuously working closely with Central and State Regulatory Agencies to promote a facilitative framework for promotion of renewable energy technologies which includes a wide array of issues.

8. The 12th Five Year Plan

The Planning Commission has promulgated the 12th Five Year Plan which provides for new approach in framing policies and granting incentives for the wind power industry. The plan aims at increased investment in the development of turbines suitable to India's wind speed regime, changes in the land tenure that would allow mixed use for both agriculture and wind generation and use of the National Clean Energy Fund for development of the local grids.

Organizations/Authorities

1. Ministry of Power

The Ministry of Power governs the electricity sector India and is responsible for perspective planning, policy formulation, processing of projects for investment decision, monitoring of the implementation of power projects, training and manpower development and the administration and enactment of legislation in regard to thermal, hydro power generation, transmission and distribution. Recoverable amount is the greater of the asset's net selling price and value in use.
