2. We have a very limited operating history of our manufacturing operations, which may make it difficult for investors to evaluate our historical performance or future prospects.

Our Company was originally formed and registered as a Limited Liability Partnership in the name and style of “Pashupati Cotspin LLP” on January 07, 2013. Later, “Pashupati Cotspin LLP” was thereafter converted from a Limited Liability Partnership to a Private Limited Company under part I Chapter XXI of Section 366 of Companies Act, 2013 with the name of Pashupati Cotspin Private Limited on July 03, 2017. Further, our Company was converted into Public Limited Company and consequently name of company was changed from “Pashupati Cotspin Private Limited” to “Pashupati Cotspin Limited” on July 18, 2017. Our manufacturing operations started in 2013, thus we have very limited operating history from which one can evaluate our business, future prospects and viability. Our future revenues and profitability are also difficult to estimate and could fluctuate significantly and as a result the price of our equity shares may be volatile. For further details relating to the history of our Company, see the section titled “Our History and Certain Corporate Matters” and “Financial Information of the Company” at page 109 and 136 respectively of this Draft Prospectus.

The goods sold to these parties accounted for around 56.86 %, 63.22% and 44.70% for the said period. Our Company entered into such transactions due to easy proximity and quick execution. However, there is no assurance that we could not have obtained better and more favourable terms had our Company not entered into such related party transactions. Our Company may enter into such transactions in future also and we cannot assure that in such an event there would be no adverse affect on results of our operations.

For details please refer to Annexure S on Related Party Transactions of the Auditor’s Report under Section titled “Financial Information of the Company” beginning on page no. 163 of this Draft Prospectus.

4. If we are not able to obtain, renew or maintain the statutory and regulatory permits and approvals required to operate our business it may have a material adverse effect on our business.

We require certain statutory and regulatory permits, licenses and approvals to operate our business. Though we believe that we have obtained all the required permits and licenses which are adequate to run our business except for the Professional Tax Enrolment Certificate, however we cannot assure that there is no other statutory/regulatory requirement which we are required to comply with. Further our Company has been formed from the conversion of the Limited Liability Partnership into company and all our approvals are in the name of our previous name which is not yet changed. Further, some of these approvals are granted for fixed periods of time and need renewal from time to time. We are required to renew such permits, licenses and approvals. There can be no assurance that the relevant authorities will issue any of such permits or approvals in time or at all. Failure by us to renew, maintain or obtain the required permits or approvals in time may result in the interruption of our operations and may have a material adverse effect on our business.

For further details, please refer to section titled “Government and Other Approvals” beginning on page 190 of the Draft Prospectus.

and demand and other factors beyond our control. Any adverse movement in the price of the Cotton will impact our cost of production which we may not be able to pass on to the customer which may affect our profitability of even lead to losses. Further any prolonged increase in cotton prices could have a material adverse effect on our Company over a period of time and affect all our strategies and future projections.

6. Our Company has posted negative profits in the past.

Our Company has in the past incurred losses. Although we have made profits for the period ended on March 31, 2017, March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015 but there can be no assurance that we will be able to maintain the profitability in future. The details are as mentioned below:

(Amt in Rs. Lakhs)

Particular	For the year ended on March 31, 2017
Global Park Developer LLP	(0.09)

Further, our Group Company namely Pashupati Solar Private Limited has not started commercial production and having a negative networth of Rs 14.96 Lakhs as per the financial statement for the year March 31, 2017. Any operating losses could adversely affect the overall operations of the group and financial conditions and also divert the attention of the management and promoter towards the group company which could have an adverse affect on our operations and financials. For more information, regarding the Company, please refer chapter titled “Our Group Companies” beginning on page 128 of this Draft Prospectus.

8. Excessive dependence on Oriental Bank of Commerce for obtaining financial facilities.

Our entire fund based and non fund based financial assistance has been sanctioned from Oriental Bank of Commerce. We have been sanctioned the financial assistance on the security of assets and personal guarantee of our Promoter and Promoter Group member. Any default under such arrangement or non renewal or renewal of the sanction on adverse term with such lender may result into difficulty in arranging of funds for re-payment and may also adversely affect our operations and financials. Also we have provided the collateral security of our registered office and factory for the above loan taken from Oriental Bank of Commerce. For further details on the Credit Limits and other banking facilities, please see “Statement of Financial Indebtedness” on page 168 of the Draft Prospectus.

Additionally, Our Promoter and Promoter Group Member has provided personal guarantees to secure the credit facilities taken from Oriental Bank of Commerce, and may continue to provide such guarantees and other security post listing. In case of any default under our loan agreements, the personal guarantees provided by our Promoter and Promoter Group Member may be invoked which could negatively impact on the reputation and networth of our Promoter.

9. All our manufacturing facilities are located at Kadi, Gujarat.

We manufacture our products from our manufacturing facilities which are located at Kadi, Gujarat. Any disruption in the operations due to supply of power, fire outages or industrial accidents at the unit could hamper or delay our ability to continue production and servicing. Any disruption or suspension in the production process in this facility can significantly impact our ability to service customer needs and relation with our customers and have a material adverse effect on our business, revenues, reputation, results of operation and financial condition.

10. The price, which we are able to obtain for the yarn and cotton bales that we produce depend largely on prevailing market prices.

Any decrease in yarn prices may adversely affect our profitability. The wholesale price of cotton has a significant impact on our profits. Cotton is subject to price fluctuations resulting from weather, natural disasters, domestic and foreign trade policies, shifts in supply and demand and other factors beyond our control. As a result, any prolonged decrease in cotton prices could have a material adverse effect on our Company and our results of operations.

11. We have recently taken initiative for the expansion of the capacity of the Ginning and spinning currently installed at our manufacturing facility. We may face new business and financial challenges which may adversely affect our profitability and results of operations.

Our Company has proposed to go for expansion of the existing unit by installing new 11424 spindle for spinning unit and 56 DR ginning for Ginning unit. The existing installed capacity of the spindlage is 25536 spindle and 56 DR ginning units. Also, as a Company, we have limited financial history and our prior period financial results may not accurately represent our future financial performance and therefore prospective investors may not be able to assess our Company’s prospects based on past results.

12. Our revenues are significantly dependent upon sales of our main products that are cotton bales and yarn.

Our core business is the manufacture of cotton bales and yarn. Consequently, our income is significantly dependent on sales of the cotton bales and yarn and over the years, such sales have emerged as the major contributor to our revenue and business. Our continued reliance on sales of our products for a significant portion of our revenue exposes us to risks, including the potential reduction in the demand for such products in the future; increased competition from domestic and regional manufacturers; cost-effective technology; fluctuations in the price and availability of the raw materials; changes in regulations and import duties; and the cyclical nature of our customers’ businesses. One or more such reasons may affect our revenues and income from sales of our products and thereby adversely affect our business, profitability, cash flows and results of operations.

13. We have experienced negative cash flows in previous years. Any operating losses or negative cash flows in the future could adversely affect our results of operations and financial conditions.

The details of Cash flows of our Company are as follows:

In such cases, we may not be able to acquire new plants or machineries or repair the damaged plants or machineries in time or at all, particularly where our plants or machineries are not readily available from the market or require services from original machinery manufacturers. Some of our major machineries or parts may be costly to replace or repair. We may experience significant price increases due to supply shortages, inflation, transportation difficulties or unavailability. Such obsolescence, destruction, theft, breakdowns, repair or maintenance failures or price increases may not be adequately covered by the insurance policies availed by our Company and may have an effect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations For further details of our Plant and Machineries, please refer to chapter titled “Our Business” beginning on page 87 of the Draft Prospectus.

Our ability to maintain close and satisfactory relationships with our suppliers may impact our supplies and affect our production process. We also have not entered into any long term agreements with our customers. In the event of any change in the preference or production schedule of the customer, our customer may terminate the orders which may affect our Company’s business, results of operations and revenues. Also, there is no assurance that the customers and suppliers will continue to supply raw materials to us and these customers will continue to purchase products from us. This could impact the financial performance of our Company and affect our financial condition.

32. Our business is dependent on the adequate and uninterrupted supply of electrical power at a reasonable cost. Failure on account of unavailability of electrical power may restrict us in utilizing our full capacity and, hence, may impact our business and results of operation.

Currently, we source of our power requirements from the State Electricity Board. There can be no assurance that electricity supplied by them will be sufficient to meet our requirements or that we will be able to procure adequate and interrupted power supply in the future at a reasonable cost. Further, if the per unit cost of electricity is increased by the state electricity boards, our power costs will increase and it may not be possible to pass on any increase in our power costs to our customers, which may adversely affect our profit margins.

Our business involves manufacturing processes that can be potentially dangerous to our employees. An accident may result in loss of life, destruction of property or equipment, manufacturing or delivery delays, or may lead to suspension of our operations. While we believe we maintain adequate insurance, interruptions in production as a result of an accident may also increase our costs and reduce our revenue, and may require us to make substantial capital expenditures to remedy the situation or to defend litigation that we or our senior management may become involved in as a result, which may negatively affect our profitability, business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. Any negative publicity associated therewith, may have a negative effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

adverse affect on the demand of cotton yarn. In order to be in line with this fashion trends, we need to anticipate the changes in the fashion trends and develop the products as per customer's needs. Our manufacturing technology may become obsolete or may not be upgraded timely, hampering our operations and financial conditions. Although we believe that we have installed plant and machineries with the latest upgraded technology suitable for cotton yarn production, we shall further continue to strive to keep our technology updated. We depend on transportation services to deliver our products from the raw material site to our factory and from our factory to the site of the customer. We rely on third parties transportation service providers to provide such services. Any disruptions of transportation services because of weather related problems, strikes, lock-outs, inadequacies in road infrastructure or other events could impair our procurement of raw materials and our ability to supply our products to our customers. There is no assurance that such disruptions will not occur in the future. Any such disruptions could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

41. Our business is labour intensive and our business may be affected if we are unable to obtain or retain employees on contract or at commercially attractive costs.

Our business is manpower intensive and our continued growth depends on our ability to recruit and retain suitable staff. Recruiting and retaining of skilled personnel with significant knowledge and experience in the textiles sector in India is very difficult. There can be no assurance that attrition rates for our employees will not increase. A significant increase in our employee attrition rate could also result in decreased operational efficiencies and productivity, loss of market knowledge and customer relationships, and an increase in recruitment and training costs, thereby materially affecting our business, results of operations and financial condition. We cannot assure you that we will be able to find or hire personnel with the necessary experience or expertise to operate our business. In the event that we are unable to hire people with the necessary knowledge or the necessary expertise, our business may be severely disrupted, financial condition and results of operations may be affected.

Additionally, any upward revision in the manpower cost may have a direct impact on our employee costs and consequently, on our margins. Further, the minimum wage laws in India may be amended leading to upward revisions in the minimum wages payable in one or more states. We may need to increase compensation and other benefits in order to attract and retain key personnel in the future and that may materially affect our costs and profitability.

42. Our Company has during the preceding one year from the date of the Draft Prospectus have allotted Equity Shares at a price which may be lower than the Issue Price.

Our Company was initially incorporated as a Limited Liability Partnership in the Year 2013 which was later converted into a Company in the year 2017. We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholders investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value. For details of our Dividend history refer to the Section “Dividend Policy” on page 135 of the Draft Prospectus.

45. We have not identified any alternate source of raising the funds for the proposed object of the Issue and the deployment of funds is entirely at our discretion and as per the details mentioned in the section titled “Objects of the Issue”.

Our Company has not identified any alternate source of funding for our proposed object of the Issue and hence any failure or delay on our part to mobilize the required resources or any shortfall in the Issue proceeds can adversely affect our growth plan and profitability. Further the deployment of the funds raised in the issue will be entirely at the discretion of the management and any revision in the estimates may require us to reschedule our projected expenditure and may have a bearing on our expected revenues and earnings.

Under current Indian tax laws and regulations, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian company are generally taxable in India. Any gain realized on the sale of shares on a stock exchange held for more than 12 months will not be subject to capital gains tax in India if the securities transaction tax (STT) has been paid on the transaction. The STT will be levied on and collected by an Indian stock exchange on which equity shares are sold. Further, any gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less will be subject to short term capital gains tax in India, if securities transaction tax has been paid on the transaction. Any gain realized on the sale of shares held for more than 36 months to an Indian resident, which are sold other than on a recognized stock exchange and as a result of which no STT has been paid, will be subject to long term capital gains tax in India. Further, any gain realized on the sale of equity shares held for a period of 36 months or less which are sold other than on a recognized stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid, may be subject to short term capital gains tax at a relatively higher rate as compared to the transaction where STT has been paid in India.

External Risk Factors

53. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by a domestic or international rating agency could have a negative impact on our business.

India's sovereign debt rating could be downgraded due to various factors, including changes in tax or fiscal policy or a decline in India's foreign exchange reserves, which are outside our control. Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have a material adverse effect on our business and financial performance, ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the price of our Equity Shares.

54. Regional hostilities, terrorist attacks, communal disturbances, civil unrest and other acts of violence or war involving India and other countries may result in a loss of investor confidence and adversely affect the financial markets and our business.

Terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence or war may negatively affect the Indian markets on which our Equity Shares will trade and also adversely affect the worldwide financial markets. In addition, the Asian region has from time to time experienced instances of civil unrest and hostilities among neighboring countries. Hostilities and tensions may occur in the future and on a wider scale. Military activity or terrorist attacks in India may result in investor concern about stability in the region, which may adversely affect the price of our Equity Shares. Events of this nature in the future, as well as social and civil unrest within other countries in the world, could influence the Indian economy and could have an adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including our Equity Shares.

55. Instability in financial markets could materially and adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

The Indian economy and financial markets are significantly influenced by worldwide economic, financial and market conditions. Any financial turmoil, especially in the United States of America or Europe, may have a negative impact on the Indian economy. Although economic conditions differ in each country, investors' reactions to any significant developments in one country can have adverse effects on the financial and market conditions in other countries. A loss in investor confidence in the financial systems, particularly in other emerging markets, may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets. The global financial turmoil, an outcome of the sub-prime mortgage crisis which originated in the United States of America, led to a loss of investor confidence in worldwide financial markets. Indian financial markets have also experienced the contagion effect of the global financial turmoil, evident from the sharp decline in SENSEX, BSE's benchmark index. Any prolonged financial crisis may have an adverse impact on the Indian economy and us, thereby resulting in a material and adverse effect on our business, operations, financial condition, profitability and price of our Equity Shares.

56. Natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy and cause Our Company's business to suffer.

India has experienced natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunami, floods etc. In recent years, the extent and severity of these natural disasters determine their impact on the Indian economy. Prolonged spells of abnormal rainfall or other natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy, which could adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations as well as the price of the Equity Shares.

57. Government regulation of foreign ownership of Indian securities may have an adverse effect on the price of the Equity Shares.

Foreign ownership of Indian securities is subject to government regulation. Under foreign exchange regulations currently in effect in India, transfer of shares between non residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the rupees proceeds from the sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the Income Tax authorities. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained.

58. If certain labour laws become applicable to us, our profitability may be adversely affected.

India has stringent labour legislations that protect the interests of workers, including legislation that sets forth detailed procedures for dispute resolution and employee removal and legislation that imposes certain financial obligations on employers upon retrenchment. Any change or modification in the existing labour laws may affect our flexibility in formulating labour related policies.

59. Political, economic and social changes in India could adversely affect our business.

Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Company's shares, may be affected by changes in Government policies, including taxation, social, political, economic or other developments in or affecting India could also adversely affect our business. Since 1991, successive governments have pursued policies of economic liberalization and financial sector reforms including significantly relaxing restrictions on the private sector. In addition, any political instability in India may adversely affect the Indian economy and the Indian securities markets in general, which could also affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

60. Our transition to Ind AS or IFRS reporting could have an adverse effect on our reported results of operations or financial condition.

On January 2, 2015, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India (MCA) announced the revised roadmap for the implementation of Ind AS for companies other than banking companies, insurance companies and non-banking finance companies through a press release. On February 16, 2015, the MCA issued the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 (Indian Accounting Standard Rules) to be effective from April 1, 2015. The Indian Accounting Standard Rules provide for voluntary adoption of Ind AS by companies in financial year 2015 and, implementation of Ind AS will be applicable from April 1, 2016 to companies with a net worth of ₹ 5,000 million or more. Additionally, Ind AS differs in certain respects from IFRS and therefore financial statements prepared under Ind AS may be substantially different from financial statements prepared under IFRS. There can be no assurance that the adoption of Ind AS by our Company will not adversely affect its results of operation or financial condition. Any failure to successfully adopt Ind AS in accordance with the prescribed timelines may have an adverse effect on the financial position and results of operation of our Company.

61. The nationalized goods and services tax (GST) regimes proposed by the Government of India may have material impact on our operations

The Government of India has proposed a comprehensive national goods and service tax (GST) regime that will combine taxes and levies by the Central and State Governments into a unified rate structure. Given the limited liability of information in the public domain covering the GST we are unable to provide/ measure the impact this tax regime may have on our operations

SECTION III – INTRODUCTION

SUMMARY OF OUR INDUSTRY

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Over the course of 2016, cotton futures experienced significant fluctuations. After reaching a seven-year low in March, cotton futures climbed to a two-year high in August before retreating back to 65 cents a few weeks later. For the remainder of the year, cotton futures traded in the $0.66 to $0.73 range. While cotton and soybean prices trended upward, grain prices declined in 2016. Oil prices steadily increased from the lows observed in 2015. World cotton production increased by 9.2% while consumption increased just 0.5% in 2016. However, ending stocks were reduced for the second year in a row due to increased Chinese reserve sales. The cotton market continues to be influenced by uncertainty in government policies, developments in other commodity markets, and a changing macroeconomic climate. Many of those influences will carry over into the outlook for 2017. Growth in world cotton demand remains a key concern as competition from lower priced man-made fibers weigh on the market. With this report, National Cotton Council (NCC) staff hopes to present a thorough review of the current economic landscape and the prospects for the coming year.

To recap the current marketing year, U.S. producers planted 10.1 million acres of cotton in 2016, an increase of 17.4% from the previous spring. The increased acres were primarily the result of higher cotton prices relative to grains and oilseeds. In Texas, some acres returned to production that was prevented from planting in 2015 due to excessive rainfall at planting time. According to USDA's January 2017 estimates, with only 5.5% of U.S. cotton acres un-harvested, the resulting 2016 crop of 17.0 million bales marked a 4.1 million bale increase from 2015. The current marketing year began with cotton stocks at 3.8 million bales. When added to the recent harvest, total supplies for the 2016 marketing year are estimated at 20.8 million bales. Total supplies will be more than sufficient to satisfy estimated use of 16.1 million bales. U.S. textile mills are expected to consume 3.3 million bales in the current marketing year, down 150 thousand bales from 2015. The Economic Adjustment Assistance Program (EAAP) continues to be an important source of stability allowing mills to invest in new facilities and equipment.

U.S. exports are estimated to be 39.3% higher in 2016 at 12.8 million bales, which is higher than the January USDA estimate of 12.5 million bales. If the current pace of sales and shipments is maintained, the strong demand for high quality cotton could push the U.S. export number even higher than 12.8 million bales. The current U.S. export estimate breaks down into 12.2 million bales of upland cotton and 600 thousand bales of ELS cotton. The U.S. will remain the largest exporter of cotton with a market share of 35.8% as compared to 26.0% in 2015. While world trade increased slightly in 2016; the gain in U.S. market share is largely attributed to supply issues in other major cotton exporting countries. Brazil had a 32.8% reduction in cotton exports in 2016, while India's exports were 23.7% lower. The current supply and demand estimates generate 4.8 million bales of ending stocks in the U.S. balance sheet, up 1.0 million bales from the previous year. With that review in mind, the projections for the 2017 marketing year will begin with the outlook for U.S. production. As in past years, the prospects for the U.S. crop are based on the results of the NCC planting intentions survey with assumptions made for abandonment and yields. Survey respondents are asked to give their plantings of cotton, corn, soybeans, wheat, and other crops for 2016 and intended acreage for 2017. As always, the survey results should be viewed as a measure of grower intentions prevailing at the time the survey was conducted. During the survey period, the cotton December futures contract averaged 70 cents per pound, which is higher than year-ago levels. Looking at competing crops, corn prices were lower than year-ago levels while soybean prices were about 12.0% higher. The price ratio of cotton to corn is more favorable than in 2016.

In the Southeast, survey results indicate a 0.1% increase in the region's upland area to 2.2 million acres. Across the six states, the results are mixed with increased acreage in Alabama and Florida and a decrease for the other four states. In Alabama, the survey responses indicate 14.2% more cotton acreage and less corn and wheat area. In Florida, respondents indicated more cotton and less soybeans. In Georgia, cotton acreage is expected to decline by 3.1% with 'Other Crops', likely peanuts, pulling acres from cotton, corn and wheat. In South Carolina, acreage is expected to decline by 0.4% as cotton acres shift to soybeans and 'Other Crops'. In North Carolina, a 4.8% decline is expected as cotton acreage shifts to soybeans and 'Other Crops'. Cotton acreage is expected to decline by 1.0% in Virginia as acreage shifts to corn and 'Other Crops'.

In the Mid-South, growers have demonstrated their ability to adjust acreage based on market signals, in particular, the relative prices of competing crops. This year's survey results are no different with growers intending to plant 1.7 million acres, an increase of 12.8% from the previous year. Across the region, all states are expected to increase cotton acreage, while decreasing corn and 'Other Crops'. The largest increase was reported in Mississippi with 26.8% more cotton acreage in 2017. Mississippi respondents expect to lower acreage of all other crops as more cotton acreage is planted. In Tennessee, cotton acreage is expected to increase by 16.6% as land shifts away from corn. In all states except Mississippi, soybean acreage is expected to increase. In Arkansas and Missouri, corn, wheat, and 'Other Crops' are expected to decline. In Louisiana, respondents indicated more cotton, soybeans, and wheat and less corn and 'Other Crops'.

Growers in the Southwest intend to plant 6.6 million acres of cotton, an increase of 10.7%. Increases in cotton area are expected in each of the three states. In Kansas, land is shifting away from wheat, corn, and soybeans. In Oklahoma, a 30.1% increase is expected as wheat acreage declines. Overall, Texas acreage is expected to increase by 9.5%. In south Texas, respondents indicate an 11.4% increase in cotton acreage as land shifts away from corn and wheat. Respondents in South Texas also indicated an increase in 'Other Crops'. Respondents from the Blacklands indicate a slight decrease in cotton and corn acreage and an increase in wheat and 'Other Crops'. In west Texas, respondents indicated a 9.6% increase in cotton acreage and a decline in corn, wheat, and 'Other Crops'. With intentions of 268 thousand acres, producers in the West are expecting to plant 15.1% more acres of upland cotton. Arizona is responsible for the large increase, with California acreage down slightly and New Mexico acreage up slightly. The survey results for Arizona suggest a shift from corn and 'Other Crops' to cotton.

Summing across the 4 regions gives intended 2017 upland cotton area of 10.8 million acres, 8.8% above 2016. The survey indicates that growers intend to plant more ELS cotton in 2017, in some cases due to expectations of increased water allocations. Arizona growers are expecting to plant 79.6% more ELS cotton while California growers expect a 31.4% increase in ELS acres. Overall, U.S. cotton growers intend to increase ELS plantings 36.9% to 266 thousand acres in 2017. Summing together the upland and ELS cotton intentions shows U.S. all-cotton plantings in 2017 of 11.0 million acres, 9.4% higher than 2016. For the past three years, U.S. cotton producers have struggled with low cotton prices, high production costs, and the resulting financial hardships. While current futures markets have increased since last year, many producers will continue to face difficult economic conditions in 2017. Production costs remain high and the slightly higher price is still not enough to cover all production expenses for many producers.

Given the economic climate, it is important to discuss the factors driving an increase in cotton acreage in 2017. In the Mid-South, producers are more responsive to changes in relative prices of competing crops due to the favorable growing conditions and high yield potential for a variety of crops. Lower corn prices and high cotton yields are influencing cotton acreage. The Mid-South has experienced exceptional cotton yields in the past few years which is contributing to more cotton acres. Although acreage is expected to increase for the second year in a row, 2017 projected acreage is still below the 10- year average for the region. In the West, low corn prices and expectations for increased water availability are influencing cotton acreage. In the Southwest, low wheat and corn prices are the main factors influencing cotton acreage. In addition, much of the Southwest region had above-average yields in 2016 which could encourage more cotton acreage in 2017. Planted acreage is just one of the factors that will determine supplies of cotton and cottonseed. Ultimately, weather, insect pressures, and agronomic conditions play a significant role in determining crop size. However, since the NCC economic outlook does not attempt to forecast weather patterns, the standard convention is to assume yields in line with recent trends and abandonment consistent with historical averages. However, it is important to remember the volatility around projected production given the uncertainty of weather patterns. With abandonment set at 12.0% for the U.S., Cotton Belt harvested area totals 9.7 million acres (Figure 1). Using an average 2017 U.S. yield of 830 pounds generates a cotton crop of 16.8 million bales, with 16.0 million bales of upland and 760 thousand bales of ELS. The projected crop represents a 195 thousand bale decrease from the latest 2016 estimate.

Turning attention to demand for U.S. cotton, consumption by the domestic textile industry is projected to increase to 3.4 million bales in the 2017 marketing year. Textile trade estimates for 2017 suggest that the overwhelming majority of products manufactured by the U.S. textile industry will move into export markets for further processing. International markets, the primary outlet for U.S. raw fiber production, remain very competitive, with competition from not only growths of other cotton, but also man-made fibers. To fully assess the prospects for 2017 cotton exports, it is important to review the expectations for key importing and exporting countries. In recent years, the U.S. and world cotton markets have experienced several notable changes. On the demand side, the most significant change is the drastic reduction in Chinese imports since 2012. However, the U.S. is still the largest cotton exporter, followed by India. Reduced U.S. exports to China have been partially offset by increases in exports to Vietnam, Mexico, and Bangladesh. In 2016, China announced that import quotas would be limited to the required WTO minimum tariff rate quota (TRQ) of 4.1 million bales. A similar stance is expected for the 2017 crop year as China continues to work through reserve stocks. China announced a new plan in 2016 to auction off cotton reserve stocks each year. In 2016, the reserve auctions took place from May through September and almost 12.0 million bales were sold. China plans to gradually reduce stocks each year until the reserves reach what they consider a 'reasonable level'. The 2017 reserve auctions are scheduled to occur from March 6 to August 31. In addition to changes in the reserve policy, China has also made other significant changes in cotton policy in the last few years. China has been reducing acreage and production for the past five years and is no longer the world's largest cotton producer. Starting in 2015, India surpassed China as the largest cotton producing country. Following a 30.7% decline in cotton acreage in 2015, China cotton area was reduced by another 7.4% in 2016. While China has been reducing acreage in other lower yielding provinces, China plans to maintain acreage in the higher yielding Xinjiang region. Production levels observed in 2015 and 2016 were at the lowest levels since 2000.

The Beijing Cotton Outlook has projected a slight increase in acreage for 2017, while the Xinjiang Regional Development Reform Commission (NDRC) projected a slight decline. For 2017, China acreage is estimated to increase by 3.3%, resulting in a 21.9 million bale crop, which is similar to the 2016 level.

Despite being the largest spinner of cotton, China's demand remains a concern as domestic use remains well below historical highs. Between 2009 and 2013, China's mill use fell by almost 16.0 million bales as high cotton prices relative to man-made fibers forced spinners to turn away from cotton. Currently, internal cotton prices above $1.00 are still almost twice the level of polyester prices. Polyester prices have increased this year but are still low relative to cotton prices. The adjustments in China's supply and demand, including the success of the reserve auctions, will allow a reduction in stocks. For the 2016 crop year, the January USDA estimate includes a reduction of 9.9 million bales. In 2017, an additional 10.8 million bale reduction in total stocks is expected. The 2017 estimate assumes that the next auction series will be as successful as in the previous year. A successful auction series over the next two years could easily put China in a position to become a larger cotton importer again. Increased sales of Chinese reserve stocks has led to more domestic spinning of cotton and has reduced China's imports of cotton yarn in 2016. China lowered yarn imports from India and Pakistan by 40.8% and 28.2%, respectively, but increased imports from Vietnam by 24.8%. Vietnam was the top supplier of cotton yarn to China in 2016. Although world mill use showed only a slight increase in 2016, cotton mill use in China increased by 3.6%. Supported by continued growth in China, world consumption is projected to increase by 1.5% in 2017. The growth is leading to additional cotton import demand in key countries such as Vietnam and Bangladesh. In terms of the global trade picture, government policies in India will play a role in the outlook for the coming year. Recent demonetization policies have affected India's exchange rate and cotton exports. Therefore, 2017 projections for India are highly uncertain given the current economic situation. For 2017, India's acreage is projected to increase as internal cotton prices have strengthened relative to grain prices. The resulting production reaffirms India's position as the largest producing country. As a result of increased production, an increase in exports is projected for the 2017 marketing year to 4.7 million bales.

As the net effects of the trade adjustments are aggregated together, world cotton trade for 2017 is estimated at 36.7 million bales, up 1.0 million bales from 2016. The United States is expected to capture approximately 33.7% of world trade by exporting 12.4 million bales in the upcoming year. However, it is important to note that the U.S. projections are highly contingent on the global cotton market. Competition from other cotton exporting countries as well as government policies in key importing countries could impact U.S. cotton exports. If India's demonetization policy negatively impacts cotton exports in 2017, the U.S. market share could increase. Increased competition from other exporting countries could also impact U.S. cotton exports. While this outlook assumes a similar stance for China's cotton imports in 2017, the potential for additional import quota to meet the demand for high quality cotton is a possibility for the upcoming crop year. When exports are added to U.S. mill use, total offtake is 15.8 million bales. Recall that the U.S. crop is estimated at 16.8 million bales, thus leading to an increase in ending stocks of 898 thousand bales, when taking into account adjustments in the unaccounted category of the U.S. balance sheet. For the world balance sheet, global production of 105.6 million bales is just slightly higher than in 2016. World mill use is projected to increase to 113.4 million bales, exceeding production by 7.8 million bales. Although cotton's share of world fiber demand has been declining, total cotton consumption has been trending upward for the past 5 years, with the exception of a slight decline in 2015.

World cotton stocks decline by 7.7 million bales in the 2017 balance sheet. While projections of global consumption exceeding production would normally be supportive of prices, the implications for the coming year may not be as clear cut. The majority of the decline in global stocks is due to reduced inventories in China. While China's increased consumption of reserve stocks has increased mill use in 2016, it has also led to a reduction in China's demand for imported cotton yarn. This trend could continue as China continues to work through the reserve stocks. Stocks outside of China – an important barometer of price conditions – are projected to increase by 3.0 million bales. While the Council's economic outlook does not attempt to project cotton prices, it is important to review some of the factors shaping the current price situation. Cotton prices have maintained a stronger appearance despite sluggish world demand, smaller imports by China, weakness in other commodity markets, and a stronger dollar. In the face of bearish indicators, a lack of exportable supplies in Central Asia and West Africa, coupled with India's reduced exports, are supporting current prices. In addition, unfixed on-call sales are also providing support to futures prices. Based on the underlying assumptions and resulting cotton balance sheet, the increased stocks outside of China may contribute to a more bearish tone. As with any projections, there are always uncertainties and assumptions that can dramatically change the balance sheet. China's stocks and import policy, as well as India's ability to reenter the export market, provide significant uncertainty for global markets. In addition, a struggling global economy and competition from man-made fibers underscore the challenging landscape facing cotton demand.

INDIAN ECONOMY OVERVIEW

Economic growth is projected to remain strong and India will remain the fastest-growing G20 economy. The increase in public wages and pensions will support consumption. Private investment will recover gradually as excess capacity diminishes, and the landmark Goods and Services Tax and other measures to improve the ease of doing business are being implemented. However, large non-performing loans and high leverage of some companies are holding back investment.

Monetary policy is projected to remain tight as inflation expectations have still not fully adjusted down. The need to reduce the relatively high public-debt-to-GDP ratio leaves little room for fiscal stimulus. However, investing more in physical and social infrastructure is critical to raising living standards for all. This should be financed by a comprehensive reform of income and property taxes. Restoring credit discipline and cleaning up banks' balance sheets will be instrumental to support the credit growth needed to finance more business investment.

Trade openness has increased, partly driven by a competitive service sector. Manufacturing has lagged behind, with limited contribution to exports and job creation, leaving many workers in low-paid jobs. Promoting quality job creation in manufacturing would require reducing further restrictions on FDI and trade, modernizing labour regulations and providing better education and skills. Better infrastructure, transport and logistic services would facilitate manufacturing firms' access to global markets, particularly from remote and poorer regions.

Robust consumption and a rebound in exports are boosting growth

Growth remains strong. Private consumption has been buoyant, boosted by the increase in public wages and pensions and by higher agricultural and rural incomes. The costs of the withdrawal of high denomination notes – demonetisation – in November 2016 are wearing off, and sales of cars and two-wheelers have bounced back. Investment has so far failed to rebound, despite government efforts to develop rail, road and energy infrastructure and to improve the ease of doing business. Excess capacity (e.g. in the steel sector) and the weak financial position of some corporations, combined with large non-performing loans for most public sector banks, have restrained business investment.

Exports have picked up, driven by strong demand from Asia and the euro area. Higher oil prices and gold imports, coupled with a decline in remittances inflows, are reflected in some deterioration in the current account deficit. However, the deficit remains well below its longer-term average. FDI net inflows have been rising steadily since 2014 and are fully financing the current account deficit.

Structural reforms are key to promoting inclusive growth

The acceleration of structural reforms is bringing a new growth impetus. The Goods and Services Tax (GST), to be implemented from July 2017, should help make India more of a single market and thus spur productivity, investment, competitiveness, job creation and incomes. The abolition of the Foreign Investment Promotion Board, which reviewed foreign investment programmes, should promote FDI inflows. The central government's initiative to rank individual states on the ease of doing business is opening a new era of structural reforms. Many states have already modernised regulations and administrative procedures and some are experimenting with reforms of land acquisition and labour regulations.

There is little room for further cuts in interest rates. Consumer price inflation hovered below 4% at the end of 2016 and in early 2017, reflecting partly demonetisation, but also the success of the flexible inflation targeting framework. Ongoing structural reforms, including efforts to reduce the fragmentation of agricultural markets and land plots, and to develop the irrigation network, should help avoid inflation spikes in the future. In the short term, however, keeping inflation around 4% – the mid-point official inflation target – will be challenging given the roll-out of the GST and the upward adjustment in house rent allowance and in wages for state government employees.

The combined deficit and debt of the central government and states are relatively high. The central government has committed to reduce its deficit further in FY 2017/18 by better targeting fertiliser, petroleum and food subsidies. At the state level, current spending has tended to rise while investment targets have not always been met. The recent write-off of bank loans to farmers in the largest state will push up public debt, especially if other states follow suit. It could also undermine credit discipline and exacerbate income inequality since it will not benefit the poorest farmers, who rely predominantly on informal money lenders rather than banks.

Making growth more inclusive would require raising more revenue from property and personal income taxes to finance better social and physical infrastructure. Recent initiatives to benchmark states' social policies and outcomes, including health, sanitation and education, will strengthen incentives to improve the quality of public services. However, providing quality services to all would require raising public spending. Doubling public spending on health to 2.5% of GDP by 2025, as envisaged in the latest National Health Policy, and developing affordable housing for the poor would be welcome. It could be financed by removing the tax expenditures that benefit the rich most, freezing the personal income thresholds from which rates apply, reducing tax evasion and implementing fairer property taxation.

Growth increases will rest on the revival of investment

Growth is projected to increase further. Private consumption will remain steady as increases in wages and pensions for central government employees are followed by similar adjustments in the states. The recent increase in capacity utilisation, coupled with the rebound in industrial production for capital goods and manufacturing indices, bodes well for a gradual revival of private investment. The implementation of the GST, by lowering the price of capital goods, and the cut in the corporate income tax rate should also support investment. Inflation will likely increase from the low levels in early 2017, but will remain within the authorities' target band. The revival of (import-intensive) corporate investment, higher oil prices and lower remittance flows will be reflected in a larger current account deficit.

The prospect of further structural reform is a clear positive risk for growth. The deterioration in the quality of banks' portfolios, as shown by the increase in non-performing loans and stressed assets, risks damping investment and growth. India, as a net commodity importer, would suffer from higher commodity prices. Protectionist measures could restrict exports of goods and services and thus harm the economy's potential to create quality jobs.

MINISTRY OF TEXTILES

Introduction

The Textile sector comprising cotton, man-made fibres, jute, sericulture & silk, wool, a number of speciality fibres and their products and handlooms and handicrafts, play a key role in the Indian Economy by way of significant contribution to GDP, manufacturing output, employment generation and export earnings.

Box 1: Textile Sector's contribution to the Indian Economy

- 2% of GDP (at factor cost)
- 14% Industrial Production
- 11% of total manufacturing exports.
- Employs about 35 million people

The Governments, both Central and State, play a major role in the development of the Textile sector. The Government's role extends to a range of activities such as price support to cotton and jute, incentives for investments in technology up-gradation and modernisation, setting up of world class Integrated Textile Parks, implementation of Technology Mission on Cotton, Jute and Technical Textiles, development of mega clusters for powerlooms, handlooms and handicrafts, development of handlooms, handicrafts, sericulture and wool sub-sectors by implementing a number of schemes, implementation of welfare schemes for handloom weavers and handicrafts artisans and promoting skill development of textile workers in collaboration with the industry. The Government is also providing a number of incentives for export of textile products. A large network of Government Offices, public sector enterprises, textile research associations, textile design and education institutions such as National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT), Sardar Vallabhai Patel International Institute of Textile Management, various textile industry associations, Export Promotion Councils etc. provide a robust institutional framework for the development of the textile sector. The Strategic Plan (2012-13 – 2016-17) of the Ministry of Textiles has been prepared with a view to achieving a number of strategic development goals and objectives for the textile sector set by the Ministry of Textiles in consultation with the stakeholders.

Textiles Industry- A Global Industry

Introduction

The technical textile industry is broad and diverse with new and innovative applications developed regularly. The technical textile industry is also increasing proportionally relative to the whole textile industry; therefore, the U.S. Department of Commerce's International Trade Administration (ITA) has committed to developing a tool for prioritizing U.S. government export promotion efforts to help target resources toward technical textile markets and sectors most likely to result in U.S. exports. This study examines the U.S. technical textile industry and highlights key markets that will see increased exports by U.S. technical textile producers. The goal of this report is to assist U.S. producers of technical textiles identify markets where demand is growing for their products. This study examines both past performance of exports in this sector and projects estimates for growth through 2017.

Key Findings: Top Markets and Methodology

In the 2015 Technical Textiles Top Markets Report, ITA forecasted world demand for U.S. technical textiles to grow 4.6 percent. According to recently released data for 2015, however, demand contracted slightly, and exports actually only grew 4 percent in 2015. Based on the latest data, ITA now projects these exports to grow from $8.6 billion in 2015 to $9.3 billion by 2017.

ITA identified eight countries from the top 30 for in- depth case studies: Brazil, Canada, China, India, Korea, Mexico, Taiwan and Vietnam. These markets represent a range of countries to illustrate a variety of points rather than the top markets overall. Each case study contains a brief overview of the country's textile sector before going a step further, examining the current state of its technical textiles sector, i.e. current situation and needs; challenges to exports; and opportunities for U.S. exports of technical textiles in each sub-sector.

For the eight markets ITA highlighted as growth opportunities for technical textiles, the most recent data for 2015 found minor shifts in the rankings of countries' technical textiles markets. The new data largely confirms ITA expectations that the development of new markets will drive demand for US technical textiles exports.

Due to its continued focus on high value products like technical textiles, especially for use in auto manufacturing, Mexico maintains its position as the top destination for U.S. technical textiles. Its share of U.S. exports of technical textiles increased 3 percent from 36 percent in 2014 to 39 percent in 2015, and ITA expects its share to increase an additional 5 percent to 44 percent in 2017.

In comparing 2014 to 2015, Canada is still the second largest market for U.S. technical textiles. It is also the largest market for U.S. protective apparel. This is due to end user industries for oil and gas, construction and manufacturing, healthcare and mining, which all require the use of protective apparel. Additionally, Canada's demand for U.S. medical textiles was forecast by ITA to grow a mere 1 percent but actually grew 4 percent in 2015.

Along with Mexico and Canada, China is a major player in the technical textiles market. China's overall demand for U.S. produced technical textiles, however, has remained relatively flat. This can be explained through a possible slow shift of exported products from China to more duty friendly countries part of the recently completed Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement, such as Vietnam.¹ Certain sectors of medical textiles and protective apparel of the Chinese technical textile market are experiencing high demand and accelerating at a fast pace. These two sectors exceeded last year's projections. In medical textiles and protective apparel, ITA forecasted 2015 exports to China to increase by 11 percent to $30 million and 8 percent to $21 million, respectively. Yet, according to the most recently published data, the U.S. actually exported $38 million in medical textiles and $34 million in protective apparel to China last year. China has climbed three spots from the eighth largest market for U.S. medical textiles and seven spots from the 12th largest market for U.S. protective apparel to the fifth largest markets for both sectors. China will continue to be a market destination for U.S. inputs and still maintains a large percentage of the market.

Impact of new technology in clothing Industry

The fiber and textile production and the manufacture of clothing lead to the industrialization in the developing world. The technology made the machines to be ease and speed and process technology to new modes of clothing production based on the systems cost and productivity. The application of these new technologies made a profound social impact not only on the employees but also the location of those employees in clothing production. The skills, management and training need of the organizations are also affected. The technology such as CAD, CAM, manufacturing management and information technology systems facilitate many changes in the womens fashion and textile industry. By improving the labor productivity and reducing overall manufacturing costs, the clothing industry perceived the need of industrialized countries.

The technological changes promote the automation of clothing production. In sewing machine industry, technology provides a flexible method of adapting to changing styles, fabrics and sizes. Some important results are emerged as the development in fabric evaluation. But still there are major obstacles present in the automation of the stitching fabrics. The search for improved competitiveness increases the raise of new methods in designing, quick response, quality and service and provide greater flexibility by motivation the employees.

Apart from the cost and greater accessibility, there is an overall impact on the clothing technology strengthens the competitiveness of larger companies at the expense of small and medium scale firms. New technologies brought the significant change and enhanced economies of sales in clothing manufacture and organization. Design, cutting and marker making can be handled with the use of the most modern equipment. In case of woolen goods, cutting can be integrated directly into the fabric quality control process. Sewing and related operations are framed into small units known as satellite units wherever the availability and cost of labor are more favorable.

Market drivers of clothing industry technology include the greater importance on the design, innovative fabrics, quick response, quality and flexibility. Retailing is more concentrated in the global fashion market. Mass merchandisers extend their involvement and relationships with supplier's right back to fabric, fibers and yarns. The trading house system binds the number of stages of textile and clothing manufacturing together with retailing. Such companies use electronic data interchange as a core technology for building and managing their supply chains. The requirement for qualities such as sizing and fit, coloration, patterning establishes the interest in new fabric and garment styles.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Over the course of 2016, cotton futures experienced significant fluctuations. After reaching a seven-year low in March, cotton futures climbed to a two-year high in August before retreating back to 65 cents a few weeks later. For the remainder of the year, cotton futures traded in the $0.66 to $0.73 range. While cotton and soybean prices trended upward, grain prices declined in 2016. Oil prices steadily increased from the lows observed in 2015. World cotton production increased by 9.2% while consumption increased just 0.5% in 2016. However, ending stocks were reduced for the second year in a row due to increased Chinese reserve sales. The cotton market continues to be influenced by uncertainty in government policies, developments in other commodity markets, and a changing macroeconomic climate. Many of those influences will carry over into the outlook for 2017. Growth in world cotton demand remains a key concern as competition from lower priced man-made fibers weigh on the market. With this report, National Cotton Council (NCC) staff hopes to present a thorough review of the current economic landscape and the prospects for the coming year.

To recap the current marketing year, U.S. producers planted 10.1 million acres of cotton in 2016, an increase of 17.4% from the previous spring. The increased acres were primarily the result of higher cotton prices relative to grains and oilseeds. In Texas, some acres returned to production that was prevented from planting in 2015 due to excessive rainfall at planting time. According to USDA's January 2017 estimates, with only 5.5% of U.S. cotton acres un-harvested, the resulting 2016 crop of 17.0 million bales marked a 4.1 million bale increase from 2015. The current marketing year began with cotton stocks at 3.8 million bales. When added to the recent harvest, total supplies for the 2016 marketing year are estimated at 20.8 million bales. Total supplies will be more than sufficient to satisfy estimated use of 16.1 million bales. U.S. textile mills are expected to consume 3.3 million bales in the current marketing year, down 150 thousand bales from 2015. The Economic Adjustment Assistance Program (EAAP) continues to be an important source of stability allowing mills to invest in new facilities and equipment.

U.S. exports are estimated to be 39.3% higher in 2016 at 12.8 million bales, which is higher than the January USDA estimate of 12.5 million bales. If the current pace of sales and shipments is maintained, the strong demand for high quality cotton could push the U.S. export number even higher than 12.8 million bales. The current U.S. export estimate breaks down into 12.2 million bales of upland cotton and 600 thousand bales of ELS cotton. The U.S. will remain the largest exporter of cotton with a market share of 35.8% as compared to 26.0% in 2015. While world trade increased slightly in 2016; the gain in U.S. market share is largely attributed to supply issues in other major cotton exporting countries. Brazil had a 32.8% reduction in cotton exports in 2016, while India's exports were 23.7% lower. The current supply and demand estimates generate 4.8 million bales of ending stocks in the U.S. balance sheet, up 1.0 million bales from the previous year. With that review in mind, the projections for the 2017 marketing year will begin with the outlook for U.S. production. As in past years, the prospects for the U.S. crop are based on the results of the NCC planting intentions survey with assumptions made for abandonment and yields. Survey respondents are asked to give their plantings of cotton, corn, soybeans, wheat, and other crops for 2016 and intended acreage for 2017. As always, the survey results should be viewed as a measure of grower intentions prevailing at the time the survey was conducted. During the survey period, the cotton December futures contract averaged 70 cents per pound, which is higher than year-ago levels. Looking at competing crops, corn prices were lower than year-ago levels while soybean prices were about 12.0% higher. The price ratio of cotton to corn is more favorable than in 2016.

In the Southeast, survey results indicate a 0.1% increase in the region's upland area to 2.2 million acres. Across the six states, the results are mixed with increased acreage in Alabama and Florida and a decrease for the other four states. In Alabama, the survey responses indicate 14.2% more cotton acreage and less corn and wheat area. In Florida, respondents indicated more cotton and less soybeans. In Georgia, cotton acreage is expected to decline by 3.1% with 'Other Crops', likely peanuts, pulling acres from cotton, corn and wheat. In South Carolina, acreage is expected to decline by 0.4% as cotton acres shift to soybeans and 'Other Crops'. In North Carolina, a 4.8% decline is expected as cotton acreage shifts to soybeans and 'Other Crops'. Cotton acreage is expected to decline by 1.0% in Virginia as acreage shifts to corn and 'Other Crops'.

In the Mid-South, growers have demonstrated their ability to adjust acreage based on market signals, in particular, the relative prices of competing crops. This year's survey results are no different with growers intending to plant 1.7 million acres, an increase of 12.8% from the previous year. Across the region, all states are expected to increase cotton acreage, while decreasing corn and 'Other Crops'. The largest increase was reported in Mississippi with 26.8% more cotton acreage in 2017. Mississippi respondents expect to lower acreage of all other crops as more cotton acreage is planted. In Tennessee, cotton acreage is expected to increase by 16.6% as land shifts away from corn. In all states except Mississippi, soybean acreage is expected to increase. In Arkansas and Missouri, corn, wheat, and 'Other Crops' are expected to decline. In Louisiana, respondents indicated more cotton, soybeans, and wheat and less corn and 'Other Crops'.

Growers in the Southwest intend to plant 6.6 million acres of cotton, an increase of 10.7%. Increases in cotton area are expected in each of the three states. In Kansas, land is shifting away from wheat, corn, and soybeans. In Oklahoma, a 30.1% increase is expected as wheat acreage declines. Overall, Texas acreage is expected to increase by 9.5%. In south Texas, respondents indicate an 11.4% increase in cotton acreage as land shifts away from corn and wheat. Respondents in South Texas also indicated an increase in 'Other Crops'. Respondents from the Blacklands indicate a slight decrease in cotton and corn acreage and an increase in wheat and 'Other Crops'. In west Texas, respondents indicated a 9.6% increase in cotton acreage and a decline in corn, wheat, and 'Other Crops'. With intentions of 268 thousand acres, producers in the West are expecting to plant 15.1% more acres of upland cotton. Arizona is responsible for the large increase, with California acreage down slightly and New Mexico acreage up slightly. The survey results for Arizona suggest a shift from corn and 'Other Crops' to cotton.

Summing across the 4 regions gives intended 2017 upland cotton area of 10.8 million acres, 8.8% above 2016. The survey indicates that growers intend to plant more ELS cotton in 2017, in some cases due to expectations of increased water allocations. Arizona growers are expecting to plant 79.6% more ELS cotton while California growers expect a 31.4% increase in ELS acres. Overall, U.S. cotton growers intend to increase ELS plantings 36.9% to 266 thousand acres in 2017. Summing together the upland and ELS cotton intentions shows U.S. all-cotton plantings in 2017 of 11.0 million acres, 9.4% higher than 2016. For the past three years, U.S. cotton producers have struggled with low cotton prices, high production costs, and the resulting financial hardships. While current futures markets have increased since last year, many producers will continue to face difficult economic conditions in 2017. Production costs remain high and the slightly higher price is still not enough to cover all production expenses for many producers.

Given the economic climate, it is important to discuss the factors driving an increase in cotton acreage in 2017. In the Mid-South, producers are more responsive to changes in relative prices of competing crops due to the favorable growing conditions and high yield potential for a variety of crops. Lower corn prices and high cotton yields are influencing cotton acreage. The Mid-South has experienced exceptional cotton yields in the past few years which is contributing to more cotton acres. Although acreage is expected to increase for the second year in a row, 2017 projected acreage is still below the 10- year average for the region. In the West, low corn prices and expectations for increased water availability are influencing cotton acreage. In the Southwest, low wheat and corn prices are the main factors influencing cotton acreage. In addition, much of the Southwest region had above-average yields in 2016 which could encourage more cotton acreage in 2017. Planted acreage is just one of the factors that will determine supplies of cotton and cottonseed. Ultimately, weather, insect pressures, and agronomic conditions play a significant role in determining crop size. However, since the NCC economic outlook does not attempt to forecast weather patterns, the standard convention is to assume yields in line with recent trends and abandonment consistent with historical averages. However, it is important to remember the volatility around projected production given the uncertainty of weather patterns. With abandonment set at 12.0% for the U.S., Cotton Belt harvested area totals 9.7 million acres (Figure 1). Using an average 2017 U.S. yield of 830 pounds generates a cotton crop of 16.8 million bales, with 16.0 million bales of upland and 760 thousand bales of ELS. The projected crop represents a 195 thousand bale decrease from the latest 2016 estimate.

Turning attention to demand for U.S. cotton, consumption by the domestic textile industry is projected to increase to 3.4 million bales in the 2017 marketing year. Textile trade estimates for 2017 suggest that the overwhelming majority of products manufactured by the U.S. textile industry will move into export markets for further processing. International markets, the primary outlet for U.S. raw fiber production, remain very competitive, with competition from not only growths of other cotton, but also man-made fibers. To fully assess the prospects for 2017 cotton exports, it is important to review the expectations for key importing and exporting countries. In recent years, the U.S. and world cotton markets have experienced several notable changes. On the demand side, the most significant change is the drastic reduction in Chinese imports since 2012. However, the U.S. is still the largest cotton exporter, followed by India. Reduced U.S. exports to China have been partially offset by increases in exports to Vietnam, Mexico, and Bangladesh. In 2016, China announced that import quotas would be limited to the required WTO minimum tariff rate quota (TRQ) of 4.1 million bales. A similar stance is expected for the 2017 crop year as China continues to work through reserve stocks. China announced a new plan in 2016 to auction off cotton reserve stocks each year. In 2016, the reserve auctions took place from May through September and almost 12.0 million bales were sold. China plans to gradually reduce stocks each year until the reserves reach what they consider a 'reasonable level'. The 2017 reserve auctions are scheduled to occur from March 6 to August 31. In addition to changes in the reserve policy, China has also made other significant changes in cotton policy in the last few years. China has been reducing acreage and production for the past five years and is no longer the world's largest cotton producer. Starting in 2015, India surpassed China as the largest cotton producing country. Following a 30.7% decline in cotton acreage in 2015, China cotton area was reduced by another 7.4% in 2016. While China has been reducing acreage in other lower yielding provinces, China plans to maintain acreage in the higher yielding Xinjiang region. Production levels observed in 2015 and 2016 were at the lowest levels since 2000.

The Beijing Cotton Outlook has projected a slight increase in acreage for 2017, while the Xinjiang Regional Development Reform Commission (NDRC) projected a slight decline. For 2017, China acreage is estimated to increase by 3.3%, resulting in a 21.9 million bale crop, which is similar to the 2016 level.

Despite being the largest spinner of cotton, China's demand remains a concern as domestic use remains well below historical highs. Between 2009 and 2013, China's mill use fell by almost 16.0 million bales as high cotton prices relative to man-made fibers forced spinners to turn away from cotton. Currently, internal cotton prices above $1.00 are still almost twice the level of polyester prices. Polyester prices have increased this year but are still low relative to cotton prices. The adjustments in China's supply and demand, including the success of the reserve auctions, will allow a reduction in stocks. For the 2016 crop year, the January USDA estimate includes a reduction of 9.9 million bales. In 2017, an additional 10.8 million bale reduction in total stocks is expected. The 2017 estimate assumes that the next auction series will be as successful as in the previous year. A successful auction series over the next two years could easily put China in a position to become a larger cotton importer again. Increased sales of Chinese reserve stocks has led to more domestic spinning of cotton and has reduced China's imports of cotton yarn in 2016. China lowered yarn imports from India and Pakistan by 40.8% and 28.2%, respectively, but increased imports from Vietnam by 24.8%. Vietnam was the top supplier of cotton yarn to China in 2016. Although world mill use showed only a slight increase in 2016, cotton mill use in China increased by 3.6%. Supported by continued growth in China, world consumption is projected to increase by 1.5% in 2017. The growth is leading to additional cotton import demand in key countries such as Vietnam and Bangladesh. In terms of the global trade picture, government policies in India will play a role in the outlook for the coming year. Recent demonetization policies have affected India's exchange rate and cotton exports. Therefore, 2017 projections for India are highly uncertain given the current economic situation. For 2017, India's acreage is projected to increase as internal cotton prices have strengthened relative to grain prices. The resulting production reaffirms India's position as the largest producing country. As a result of increased production, an increase in exports is projected for the 2017 marketing year to 4.7 million bales.

As the net effects of the trade adjustments are aggregated together, world cotton trade for 2017 is estimated at 36.7 million bales, up 1.0 million bales from 2016. The United States is expected to capture approximately 33.7% of world trade by exporting 12.4 million bales in the upcoming year. However, it is important to note that the U.S. projections are highly contingent on the global cotton market. Competition from other cotton exporting countries as well as government policies in key importing countries could impact U.S. cotton exports. If India's demonetization policy negatively impacts cotton exports in 2017, the U.S. market share could increase. Increased competition from other exporting countries could also impact U.S. cotton exports. While this outlook assumes a similar stance for China's cotton imports in 2017, the potential for additional import quota to meet the demand for high quality cotton is a possibility for the upcoming crop year. When exports are added to U.S. mill use, total offtake is 15.8 million bales. Recall that the U.S. crop is estimated at 16.8 million bales, thus leading to an increase in ending stocks of 898 thousand bales, when taking into account adjustments in the unaccounted category of the U.S. balance sheet. For the world balance sheet, global production of 105.6 million bales is just slightly higher than in 2016. World mill use is projected to increase to 113.4 million bales, exceeding production by 7.8 million bales. Although cotton's share of world fiber demand has been declining, total cotton consumption has been trending upward for the past 5 years, with the exception of a slight decline in 2015.

World cotton stocks decline by 7.7 million bales in the 2017 balance sheet. While projections of global consumption exceeding production would normally be supportive of prices, the implications for the coming year may not be as clear cut. The majority of the decline in global stocks is due to reduced inventories in China. While China's increased consumption of reserve stocks has increased mill use in 2016, it has also led to a reduction in China's demand for imported cotton yarn. This trend could continue as China continues to work through the reserve stocks. Stocks outside of China – an important barometer of price conditions – are projected to increase by 3.0 million bales. While the Council's economic outlook does not attempt to project cotton prices, it is important to review some of the factors shaping the current price situation. Cotton prices have maintained a stronger appearance despite sluggish world demand, smaller imports by China, weakness in other commodity markets, and a stronger dollar. In the face of bearish indicators, a lack of exportable supplies in Central Asia and West Africa, coupled with India's reduced exports, are supporting current prices. In addition, unfixed on-call sales are also providing support to futures prices. Based on the underlying assumptions and resulting cotton balance sheet, the increased stocks outside of China may contribute to a more bearish tone. As with any projections, there are always uncertainties and assumptions that can dramatically change the balance sheet. China's stocks and import policy, as well as India's ability to reenter the export market, provide significant uncertainty for global markets. In addition, a struggling global economy and competition from man-made fibers underscore the challenging landscape facing cotton demand.

U.S. AND WORLD ECONOMY

For January 2017, the index increased slightly to 98.5 (Figure 1), which is the highest number since 2004. While consumers anticipate that policy changes under the Trump administration will lead to a stronger economy and create more jobs, they do not expect a large increase in wage gains. Consumers had the most positive personal financial outlook in ten years with 40.0% expecting an improved financial situation in 2017. An increase of 2.7% in real personal consumption expenditures is expected in 2017

INDIAN ECONOMY OVERVIEW

Economic growth is projected to remain strong and India will remain the fastest- growing G20 economy. The increase in public wages and pensions will support consumption. Private investment will recover gradually as excess capacity diminishes, and the landmark Goods and Services Tax and other measures to improve the ease of doing business are being implemented. However, large non-performing loans and high leverage of some companies are holding back investment.

Monetary policy is projected to remain tight as inflation expectations have still not fully adjusted down. The need to reduce the relatively high public-debt-to-GDP ratio leaves little room for fiscal stimulus. However, investing more in physical and social infrastructure is critical to raising living standards for all. This should be financed by a comprehensive reform of income and property taxes. Restoring credit discipline and cleaning up banks' balance sheets will be instrumental to support the credit growth needed to finance more business investment.

Trade openness has increased, partly driven by a competitive service sector. Manufacturing has lagged behind, with limited contribution to exports and job creation, leaving many workers in low-paid jobs. Promoting quality job creation in manufacturing would require reducing further restrictions on FDI and trade, modernising labour regulations and providing better education and skills. Better infrastructure, transport and logistic services would facilitate manufacturing firms' access to global markets, particularly from remote and poorer regions.

Robust consumption and a rebound in exports are boosting growth

Growth remains strong. Private consumption has been buoyant, boosted by the increase in public wages and pensions and by higher agricultural and rural incomes. The costs of the withdrawal of high denomination notes – demonetisation – in November 2016 are wearing off, and sales of cars and two-wheelers have bounced back. Investment has so far failed to rebound, despite government efforts to develop rail, road and energy infrastructure and to improve the ease of doing business. Excess capacity (e.g. in the steel sector) and the weak financial position of some corporations, combined with large non-performing loans for most public sector banks, have restrained business investment.

Exports have picked up, driven by strong demand from Asia and the euro area. Higher oil prices and gold imports, coupled with a decline in remittances inflows, are reflected in some deterioration in the current account deficit. However, the deficit remains well below its longer-term average. FDI net inflows have been rising steadily since 2014 and are fully financing the current account deficit.

Structural reforms are key to promoting inclusive growth

The acceleration of structural reforms is bringing a new growth impetus. The Goods and Services Tax (GST), to be implemented from July 2017, should help make India more of a single market and thus spur productivity, investment, competitiveness, job creation and incomes. The abolition of the Foreign Investment Promotion Board, which reviewed foreign investment programmes, should promote FDI inflows. The central government's initiative to rank individual states on the ease of doing business is opening a new era of structural reforms. Many states have already modernised regulations and administrative procedures and some are experimenting with reforms of land acquisition and labour regulations.

There is little room for further cuts in interest rates. Consumer price inflation hovered below 4% at the end of 2016 and in early 2017, reflecting partly demonetisation, but also the success of the flexible inflation targeting framework. Ongoing structural reforms, including efforts to reduce the fragmentation of agricultural markets and land plots, and to develop the irrigation network, should help avoid inflation spikes in the future. In the short term, however, keeping inflation around 4% – the mid-point official inflation target – will be challenging given the roll-out of the GST and the upward adjustment in house rent allowance and in wages for state government employees.

The combined deficit and debt of the central government and states are relatively high. The central government has committed to reduce its deficit further in FY 2017/18 by better targeting fertiliser, petroleum and food subsidies. At the state level, current spending has tended to rise while investment targets have not always been met. The recent write-off of bank loans to farmers in the largest state will push up public debt, especially if other states follow suit. It could also undermine credit discipline and exacerbate income inequality since it will not benefit the poorest farmers, who rely predominantly on informal money lenders rather than banks.

Making growth more inclusive would require raising more revenue from property and personal income taxes to finance better social and physical infrastructure. Recent initiatives to benchmark states' social policies and outcomes, including health, sanitation and education, will strengthen incentives to improve the quality of public services. However, providing quality services to all would require raising public spending. Doubling public spending on health to 2.5% of GDP by 2025, as envisaged in the latest National Health Policy, and developing affordable housing for the poor would be welcome. It could be financed by removing the tax expenditures that benefit the rich most, freezing the personal income thresholds from which rates apply, reducing tax evasion and implementing fairer property taxation.

Growth increases will rest on the revival of investment

Growth is projected to increase further. Private consumption will remain steady as increases in wages and pensions for central government employees are followed by similar adjustments in the states. The recent increase in capacity utilisation, coupled with the rebound in industrial production for capital goods and manufacturing indices, bodes well for a gradual revival of private investment. The implementation of the GST, by lowering the price of capital goods, and the cut in the corporate income tax rate should also support investment. Inflation will likely increase from the low levels in early 2017, but will remain within the authorities' target band. The revival of (import-intensive) corporate investment, higher oil prices and lower remittance flows will be reflected in a larger current account deficit.

The prospect of further structural reform is a clear positive risk for growth. The deterioration in the quality of banks' portfolios, as shown by the increase in non-performing loans and stressed assets, risks damping investment and growth. India, as a net commodity importer, would suffer from higher commodity prices. Protectionist measures could restrict exports of goods and services and thus harm the economy's potential to create quality jobs.

MINISTRY OF TEXTILES

Introduction

The Textile sector comprising cotton, man-made fibres, jute, sericulture & silk, wool, a number of speciality fibres and their products and handlooms and handicrafts, play a key role in the Indian Economy by way of significant contribution to GDP, manufacturing output, employment generation and export earnings.

Box 1: Textile Sector's contribution to the Indian Economy

- 2% of GDP (at factor cost)
- 14% Industrial Production
- 11% of total manufacturing exports.
- Employs about 35 million people

The Governments, both Central and State, play a major role in the development of the Textile sector. The Government's role extends to a range of activities such as price support to cotton and jute, incentives for investments in technology up-gradation and modernisation, setting up of world class Integrated Textile Parks, implementation of Technology Mission on Cotton, Jute and Technical Textiles, development of mega clusters for powerlooms, handlooms and handicrafts, development of handlooms, handicrafts, sericulture and wool sub-sectors by implementing a number of schemes, implementation of welfare schemes for handloom weavers and handicrafts artisans and promoting skill development of textile workers in collaboration with the industry. The Government is also providing a number of incentives for export of textile products. A large network of Government Offices, public sector enterprises, textile research associations, textile design and education institutions such as National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT), Sardar Vallabhai Patel International Institute of Textile Management, various textile industry associations, Export Promotion Councils etc. provide a robust institutional framework for the development of the textile sector. The Strategic Plan (2012-13 – 2016-17) of the Ministry of Textiles has been prepared with a view to achieving a number of strategic development goals and objectives for the textile sector set by the Ministry of Textiles in consultation with the stakeholders.

Textiles Industry- A Global Industry

Introduction

The technical textile industry is broad and diverse with new and innovative applications developed regularly. The technical textile industry is also increasing proportionally relative to the whole textile industry; therefore, the U.S. Department of Commerce's International Trade Administration (ITA) has committed to developing a tool for prioritizing U.S. government export promotion efforts to help target resources toward technical textile markets and sectors most likely to result in U.S. exports. This study examines the U.S. technical textile industry and highlights key markets that will see increased exports by U.S. technical textile producers. The goal of this report is to assist U.S. producers of technical textiles identify markets where demand is growing for their products. This study examines both past performance of exports in this sector and projects estimates for growth through 2017.

Key Findings: Top Markets and Methodology

In the 2015 Technical Textiles Top Markets Report, ITA forecasted world demand for U.S. technical textiles to grow 4.6 percent. According to recently released data for 2015, however, demand contracted slightly, and exports actually only grew 4 percent in 2015. Based on the latest data, ITA now projects these exports to grow from $8.6 billion in 2015 to $9.3 billion by 2017.

ITA identified eight countries from the top 30 for in- depth case studies: Brazil, Canada, China, India, Korea, Mexico, Taiwan and Vietnam. These markets represent a range of countries to illustrate a variety of points rather than the top markets overall. Each case study contains a brief overview of the country's textile sector before going a step further, examining the current state of its technical textiles sector, i.e. current situation and needs; challenges to exports; and opportunities for U.S. exports of technical textiles in each sub-sector.

For the eight markets ITA highlighted as growth opportunities for technical textiles, the most recent data for 2015 found minor shifts in the rankings of countries' technical textiles markets. The new data largely confirms ITA expectations that the development of new markets will drive demand for US technical textiles exports.

Due to its continued focus on high value products like technical textiles, especially for use in auto manufacturing, Mexico maintains its position as the top destination for U.S. technical textiles. Its share of U.S. exports of technical textiles increased 3 percent from 36 percent in 2014 to 39 percent in 2015, and ITA expects its share to increase an additional 5 percent to 44 percent in 2017.

In comparing 2014 to 2015, Canada is still the second largest market for U.S. technical textiles. It is also the largest market for U.S. protective apparel. This is due to end user industries for oil and gas, construction and manufacturing, healthcare and mining, which all require the use of protective apparel. Additionally, Canada's demand for U.S. medical textiles was forecast by ITA to grow a mere 1 percent but actually grew 4 percent in 2015.

Along with Mexico and Canada, China is a major player in the technical textiles market. China's overall demand for U.S. produced technical textiles, however, has remained relatively flat. This can be explained through a possible slow shift of exported products from China to more duty friendly countries part of the recently completed Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement, such as Vietnam.¹ Certain sectors of medical textiles and protective apparel of the Chinese technical textile market are experiencing high demand and accelerating at a fast pace. These two sectors exceeded last year's projections. In medical textiles and protective apparel, ITA forecasted 2015 exports to China to increase by 11 percent to $30 million and 8 percent to $21 million, respectively. Yet, according to the most recently published data, the U.S. actually exported $38 million in medical textiles and $34 million in protective apparel to China last year. China has climbed three spots from the eighth largest market for U.S. medical textiles and seven spots from the 12th largest market for U.S. protective apparel to the fifth largest markets for both sectors. China will continue to be a market destination for U.S. inputs and still maintains a large percentage of the market.

Impact of new technology in clothing Industry

The fiber and textile production and the manufacture of clothing lead to the industrialization in the developing world. The technology made the machines to be ease and speed and process technology to new modes of clothing production based on the systems cost and productivity. The application of these new technologies made a profound social impact not only on the employees but also the location of those employees in clothing production. The skills, management and training need of the organizations are also affected. The technology such as CAD, CAM, manufacturing management and information technology systems facilitate many changes in the womens fashion and textile industry. By improving the labor productivity and reducing overall manufacturing costs, the clothing industry perceived the need of industrialized countries.

The technological changes promote the automation of clothing production. In sewing machine industry, technology provides a flexible method of adapting to changing styles, fabrics and sizes. Some important results are emerged as the development in fabric evaluation. But still there are major obstacles present in the automation of the stitching fabrics. The search for improved competitiveness increases the raise of new methods in designing, quick response, quality and service and provide greater flexibility by motivation the employees.

Apart from the cost and greater accessibility, there is an overall impact on the clothing technology strengthens the competitiveness of larger companies at the expense of small and medium scale firms. New technologies brought the significant change and enhanced economies of sales in clothing manufacture and organization. Design, cutting and marker making can be handled with the use of the most modern equipment. In case of woollen goods, cutting can be integrated directly into the fabric quality control process. Sewing and related operations are framed into small units known as satellite units wherever the availability and cost of labor are more favorable.

Market drivers of clothing industry technology include the greater importance on the design, innovative fabrics, quick response, quality and flexibility. Retailing is more concentrated in the global fashion market. Mass merchandisers extend their involvement and relationships with supplier's right back to fabric, fibers and yarns. The trading house system binds the number of stages of textile and clothing manufacturing together with retailing. Such companies use electronic data interchange as a core technology for building and managing their supply chains. The requirement for qualities such as sizing and fit, coloration, patterning establishes the interest in new fabric and garment styles.

OUR PRODUCT PORTFOLIO

The following is an illustrative list of the products that we manufacture in our in-house production facilities.

- Ginning & Pressing

Product		Uses/Application
Cotton Bales/ lint Cotton		The main application of ginned cotton referred to as lint is for spinning operations. The cotton moves through the Spinning machines and is converted into Cotton yarn.
Black Cotton Seeds/ Delineate Seeds		Black cottonseed is used as feed products for livestock or the Cottonseed are crushed into the Oil mill after removing lint from the cotton to extract oil (Cottonseed Oil).

- Spinning

Product		Uses/Application
Cotton Yarn		Yarn is the end product of spinning. It is the primary component for any Cotton woven or knitted fabric. Cotton yarn is used to make different type of fabrics. In some cases, the cotton yarn is blended with some other yarn in different ratios to provide different effects like shining or to lend more elasticity to the yarn. It is the yarn count and the twisting mode of the yarn that actually determines the overall strength and look of the manufactured fabric.

MANUFACTURING PROCESS

GINNING & PRESSING DIVISION

Ginning is the first mechanical process involved in processing cotton. Ginning mill separates cotton fibers from the seed bolls and dust particles. The main application of ginned cotton referred to as lint is for spinning operations, where lint is converted to yarn. We produce quality cotton in our own Ginning and Pressing Unit. The installed capacity of Ginning and Pressing plant is 56 ginning machine. Plant is equipped with latest and best quality Ginning and Pressing machineries capable to produce 500 cotton bales per day during season.

1. Procurement of Raw Material

Major raw material for our Company is Kapas (raw cotton). Our production process starts with the procurement of raw material. This step involves identification of the vendor from whom the material is to be procured and the quantity of the material required. Once the raw material is received from the vendor they are tested for quality. The selection of raw material is based on factors like pricing, payment terms, availability and quality of Kapas. Grading and mixing of the raw material received from the vendor is done to get the desired quality. Conveyors are used to feed the raw cotton into the ginning machines.

2. Ginning

A Ginning machine uses the raw cotton (Kapas) received from the conveyors as Raw materials. Ginning is the process of separating the cotton fibers from the cotton seeds. The separated cotton seeds are transported out of the ginning Unit and lint of cotton received from the ginning machine are transported for further cleaning process through conveyors.

3. Cleaning

The lint cotton received from the ginning machine is sending for further cleaning. This process involves cleaning of the impurities which are left into the lint cotton. The impurities separated during this process includes dust, leaves, stems and other small particles.

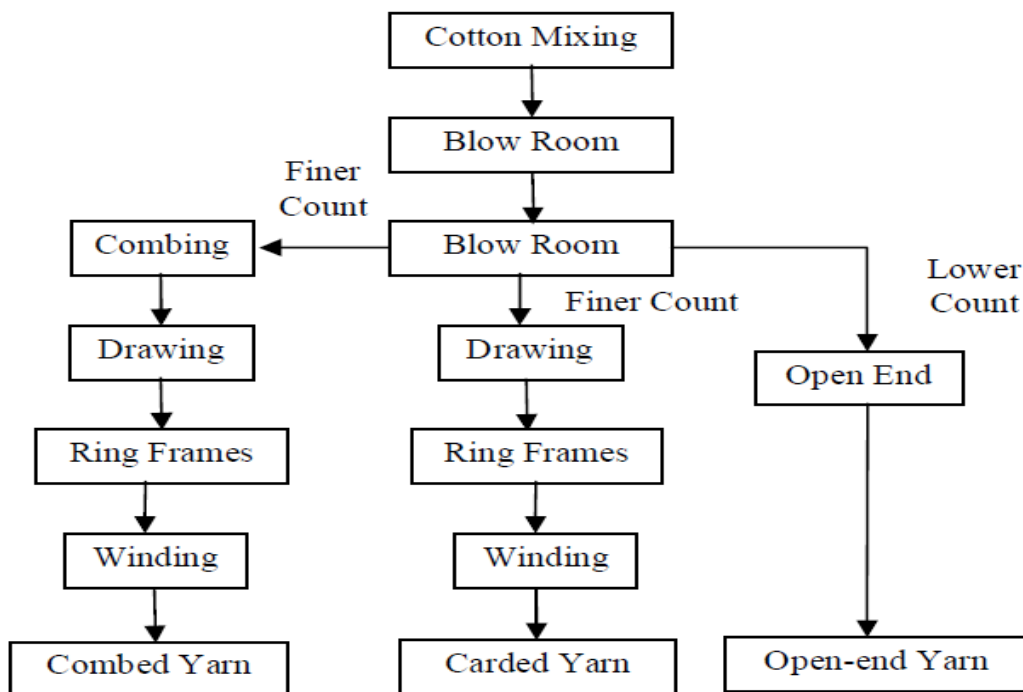

4. Bale Press

This step involves pressing of Lint cotton. In this process Lint cotton is used as Raw materials. The lint cotton will be kept in lint Godown for adding moisture for 6% to 7% before sending them for pressing. The gradation will be mainly for small staple, medium staple, long staple and very long staple fibres etc. The said lint cotton then will go through openers and finally for pressing. The pressed bales will be manually packed.

5. Packaging, Storage and Dispatch

After the bales are prepared the same are packed and stored in the warehouse for dispatch.

SPINNING DIVISION

1. Blow Room

A blow room line consists of bale opening cotton, cleaning, mixing and lap making. Impurities of cotton have to be removed during this process. This process involves various functions like opening of Bale and removing impurities of cotton like trash and other foreign matter. The procedure is to be carried out with least loss of Lint. Apart from cleaning mixing of various cotton varieties is also carried out in this section. The mixed cotton is converted into laps (Thick sheet of Cotton). The laps are transferred for further process of carding.

2. Carding

In the carding section, cotton lap is converted into slivers. The slivers are put into cans. At carding stage cleaning is also carried out resulting into waste loss.

3. Draw & Speed Frames

The carded slivers received in the can are further drawn on Draw frames/Speed frames. The function is to make the sliver more uniform in the thickness by doubling process to make it suitable for further drawing. The sliver after doubling process has to be reduced to required thickness for the yarn to be spun. This function is carried out on speed frame in several steps by Roving.

4. Ring Frames

In the Ring frame material obtained from the previous department is converted into desired count. This process is done by drafting the roving received from earlier section which is thicker than final count of the product, Twisting and Winding on the Bobbins is also carried out on this machine. The Twisting process gives strength to the yarn.

5. Winding & Reeling

This process generally involves transferring the yarn from ring cop/tube to the large packing cones. This process is used to remove the faults from the yarn and get the better quality of yarn.

6. Packing and Dispatch

Cones are normally covered by plastic bags before packing in Gunny bag or in Boxes.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government, the FDI Policy (as defined below) and FEMA. While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The government bodies responsible for granting foreign investment approvals are FIPB and the RBI.

The Government has from time to time made policy pronouncements on FDI through press notes and press releases. The Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India (“DIPP”), issued consolidated FDI Policy, which with effect from June 07, 2016 consolidates and supersedes all previous press notes, press releases and clarifications on FDI issued by the DIPP that were in force and effect as on June 7, 2016. The Government proposes to update the consolidated circular on FDI Policy once every year and therefore, the Consolidation FDI Policy will be valid until the DIPP issues an updated circular.

Subscription by foreign investors (NRIs/FPIs)

FPIs are permitted to subscribe to Equity Shares of an Indian Company in a public Issue without the prior approval of the RBI, so long as the price of the Equity Shares to be issued is not less than the price at which the Equity Shares are issued to residents. SEBI registered FPIs have been permitted to purchase shares of an Indian company through Issue, subject to total FPI investment being within the individual FPI/sub account investment limit of 10 per cent subject to the total sectoral cap of all FPIs/sub-accounts put together being 24 per cent of the paid-up capital of the Indian company.

The transfer of shares between an Indian resident and a Non-resident does not require prior approval of FIPB or RBI, subject to fulfillment of certain conditions as specified by DIPP / RBI, from time to time. Such conditions include (i) the activities of the investee company are under the automatic route under the foreign direct investment (“FDI”) Policy and the non-resident shareholding is within the sectoral limits under the FDI policy; and (ii) the pricing is in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the SEBI/RBI. Investors are advised to refer to the exact text of the relevant statutory provisions of law before investing and / or subsequent purchase or sale transaction in the Equity Shares of our Company.

Our Company, the Underwriters and their respective directors, officers, agents, affiliates and representatives, as applicable, accept no responsibility or liability for advising any investor on whether such investor is eligible to acquire Equity Shares of our Company.
